

MINERS BOMBED FROM AEROPLANE IN LOGAN FASHIONS SWAY SHOW CROWDS U.S. TROOPS IN WEST VIRGINIA

Army Ordered to Enter Turbulent District—Cabinet Convened to Consider Issuance of Proclamation of Martial Law—Reports Indicate Many Casualties

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The question of martial law must be discussed before final action is taken, Secretary of War Weeks said today just before going into the cabinet meeting. The secretary indicated that the entire matter would be laid before the cabinet.

No decision has yet been reached to declare martial law in West Virginia, Secretary of War Weeks announced this afternoon after the cabinet meeting.

A technical question as to the authority of the President to declare martial law is partly responsible for the delay by the administration in proclaiming martial law it was learned.

BULLETINS

CAMP DIX, N. J., Sept. 2.—The first of three trains bearing the Twenty-sixth Infantry regiment to the trouble zone of West Virginia left here at 10 a. m. today and the other two trains were to follow at half-hour intervals. The 1000 men and machine guns were under way in an hour. Equipping of the Sixteenth Infantry for the field, which was ordered yesterday, was completed at midnight. Passenger and freight cars for the Sixteenth were expected to be delivered this morning. No order has as yet been received for the Sixteenth to go to West Virginia. The Twenty-sixth regiment was ordered to report to Brigadier General H. H. Bandholtz at Charleston, W. Va.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 2.—The Fortieth Infantry at Camp Knox, Ky., and the Nineteenth Infantry at Camp Sherman, Ohio, have been ordered to entrain immediately for the West Virginia "war zone" it was learned today by the International News Service at Fort Benjamin Harrison, headquarters of the Fifth Army Corps.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 2.—"We are holding them." Such was the message received at the governor's office just before noon from the Logan county defenders who are holding positions along a 25-mile front against the army of striking miners.

Reports received at the governor's office today said that intense fighting was again in progress. The fighting is especially severe in the Mill Creek district, near Crooked Creek, the reports state.

Fighting is in progress at many points all along the line, the reports to the governor said.

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Sept. 2.—The first uprising in Mingo county since the battle opened along the Boone-Logan county line was reported to Sheriff A. C. Pinson early today. A number of men had slipped across the Tug river from Kermit into Martin county, Kentucky, and had organized there. The band then recrossed into West Virginia and started in the direction of Logan through Wayne county.

Sheriff Pinson has two forces of men out trying to intercept the band.

Sheriff Pinson today received an appeal from Sheriff Don Chafin of Logan to send more reinforcements and to hurry them up.

LOGAN, W. Va., Sept. 2.—Four miners are officially reported killed in the fighting east of Logan about noon. One was wounded in the Logan army.

Air scouts report that the miners are moving up to the border from all points in Boone county and that they are planning a heavy attack.

LOGAN, W. Va., Sept. 2.—Miners are assaulting the Logan border at every point. The fighting is the heaviest since the "red necks" massed for their invasion of Logan county. This was reported late today.

A 25-mile half circle around Logan court house is under terrific machine gun and rifle fire. The miners have been repeatedly repulsed, but at noon were continuing their efforts to dislodge the Loganites from the ridges and commanding points back of the mountain passes.

Browning automatic rifles and machine guns were rushed to Blair Mountain, Crooked Creek and Mill Creek. More reinforcements arrived this afternoon and are being thrown into the conflict.

If the exclamations of delight emanating from female Glendale at last night's showing by the H. S. Webb Company at the Glendale Merchants' Exposition Revue, of the latest thing in fall styles for milady are any criterion, the male side of the family debating teams of this city is due for more explicit. Mrs. Glendale is getting ready for a clothes buying campaign that will make the national debt look like a Christmas present from a poor relation.

Classic Shows

Classic Marlowe and her flock of models could display gingham dresses that would make them look like the latest Faquin models, but doll them up in the exquisite street gowns, evening gowns, winter cloaks and latest hats, and Oh! Lady! also Sweet Cookie! the effect was wonderful to say the least.

To open the evening show at the big tent Miss Ethel Davis sang a lullaby, followed by Fred Jamison, who put over the song "Make Believe" in his own pleasing way.

Mr. Jamison wore one of the Hart Shaffner & Marx suits of the H. S. Webb Company display while singing this song.

New Costumes

And then came the models. First, Classic Marlowe tripped down the runway clad in a green riding habit and black hat, accompanied by a chorus of long drawn Ohs! and Ahs! from the audience.

Viola Dolan followed Miss Marlowe. She was wearing a blue street costume that was not hard to look at, for that matter neither was the model. Many a friend wife went home wondering what friend husband meant when he murmured, as Miss Dolan tripped down the runway, "Isn't that pretty?"

Black satin street gowns are always neat and attractive, but when worn by Irene Ables they are doubly attractive and make the feminine heart beat with longing.

The audience received a treat when Caroline Cokelin made her appearance clad in a brown afternoon gown that in the language of the sporting editor was a "knockout."

Afternoon Gowns

Miss Davis stepped from between the curtains clad in a black afternoon gown that made the eyes of Mrs. Glendale shine with admiration.

As a climax to the display of street and afternoon gowns Miss Cavanaugh stepped out clad in a street costume that was the acme of perfection.

After the last model had disappeared behind the curtain, Director LeBrequer stepped out and told the customers not to leave as the girls would reappear shortly and after that would come the big event of the evening, the famous and justly praised bedroom suite scene.

Shames Dad's Suit

After a short intermission the lights flashed on and off a few times to attract the attention of the crowd and the models clad in handsome winter cloaks, from the H. S. Webb Company stock, tripped down the runway followed by the Hart, Shaffner & Marx ideal male model as dressed from the stock of the H. S. Webb Company.

When this young man, clad in the latest things in men's scenery, stepped down the runway before the gaze of the cash customers, many a wife looked at her husband and sighed as she wondered, to herself, you understand, why it is that friend husband dressed in his last "trade-up-stairs-and-save-$15-suit" didn't look exactly like the model.

SCHOOL BOARD VOTE TO CALL $260,000 BOND ELECTION

Last night following the regular session of the Board of Education a joint conference between the board members of the citizens' advisory committee took place at which the reports of sub-committees delegated to secure estimates of approximate cost of land and buildings needed for school purposes were received, and discussed. As a result of the conference the advisory committee recommended that the board call an election to vote bonds for school purposes in the sum of $260,000.

Estimates of Cost Submitted

The estimates of cost submitted by the building committee of which Roy L. Kent is chairman, covered the proposed new intermediate and its equipment, and 22 additional class rooms to be distributed among the various grade schools together with equipment. The amounts totaled $185,000, distributed as follows:

administration offices, masonry construction	$16,000
Colorado, 2-room unit, masonry	8,000
Doran Street, 3-room unit, masonry	9,000
Columbus Avenue, 4 room unit, masonry	14,000
Pacific Avenue, 3 rooms brick	9,000
Verdugo Road, 2 rooms, hollow tile	8,000
Grand View, 4 room unit, administration offices, etc., hollow tile construction	16,000
Acacia Avenue, 4 rooms and

Intermediate School, masonry construction	75,000
Architect's fees	7,500
Equipment, of Intermediate	7,500
Equipment, of the $2 grade school rooms and offices	15,000

The report of the committee on land values headed by Captain W. C. Wattles and of which Mrs. E. S. McKee, H. V. Henry and Mrs. Peter Diederich are members, was next received. The quotations they had secured for the new intermediate site, for the Grand View site and for additions to schools already established, were as follows:

Doran Street, 10 lots	$ 9,000
Acacia Avenue	12,500
Colorado Street	7,500
Columbus Avenue	7,500
Intermediate School	30,700
Grand View	10,000
Total	$74,400

The last named amount added to the estimated building cost of $185,000 made a total of $259,400, and the committee therefore voted to recommend that the election be called in the sum of $260,000.

Captain W. C. Wattles, who acted as chairman of the conference, expressed the opinion, in which the balance of the committee concurred, that the cost of land which the board desires to purchase to round out the sites of grammar schools, some of which are very small, could be covered by the sale of the land.

FEDERAL TROOPS ARE ORDERED TO SCENE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Federal troops were today ordered into West Virginia to disperse the armed band of miners who are threatening an invasion of the Mingo county coal regions here.

Major-General Harbord, chief of staff, announced that he has ordered the 19th Infantry from Camp Sherman, O., and the 26th Infantry from Camp Dix, N. J., to proceed immediately to West Virginia in response to a request from General Bandholtz, representative of the President in West Virginia.

General Harbord announced later that he had been advised that a proclamation of martial law would not be promulgated until later in the day. The lack of a proclamation of martial law will not interfere with the movement and operation of the troops, General Harbord said.

Urged Need of Troops

The telegram received from General Bandholtz early today declared the armed forces were not indicating any intention to disperse and that the situation appeared to be critical, with immediate need for troops. General Harbord said. Since this telegram was received no further report has been received from General Bandholtz. The two infantry regiments reached the disordered region at noon. On their arrival they came under the command of General Bandholtz, who will issue such orders as he sees fit. Whether a third regiment of infantry, now standing by at Camp Dix, awaiting orders, will be ordered into West Virginia today depends upon future reports and recommendations from General Bandholtz.

The troops en route are under orders to proceed to Charleston, W. Va., where their commanding officers will report to General Bandholtz, who will take over the command and dispose of the forces as he sees fit. General Bandholtz is under no restrictive orders and is called upon to handle the situation as a tactical one, using whatever military methods he may deem best.

A squadron of airplanes is now based at Charleston and General Bandholtz may use these forces as he desires. The war department has ordered a supply of tear gas bombs sent to Charleston and if the commanding officer chooses, he may attempt to employ this method of dispersing the mob.

The infantry ordered into the trouble zone includes a machine gun company. All forces are carrying large stores of ammunition and supplies.

The telegram upon which the order was issued for the movement of troops to West Virginia was received from General Bandholtz about 3 a. m. It read in part:

"Investigators returned about 11:30 tonight. The invaders have not obeyed President Harding's proclamation and there is no apparent intention of doing so. It is therefore recommended that the troops now in readiness be sent to West Virginia without delay."

The rest of the telegram was devoted to directions as to where the troops should be sent. The route of the troops is not divulged by the war department through fear that railroad lines might be dynamited.

T. N. T. Dropped on Attackers at Logan Causes Panic Among Miners—Aeroplanes Swing Over Revolters, Who Present Solid Front to Defenders of Town

BY ROBERT STARR THORNBURGH

Special Correspondent of the International News Service

LOGAN, W. Va., Sept. 2.—Furious fighting is in progress at Blair Mountain and Crooked Creek.

Casualties have occurred at both points. Six prisoners were captured by the Loganites at Blair Mountain this morning.

Colonel Eubank's latest communique at 10:20 a. m. said: "We are sitting pretty. We have a jail full of prisoners. Logan will hold the lines until the federal troops arrive."

AERIAL BOMBS DROPPED
Aerial bombs were dropped by Logan defense airplanes early today.

The T.N.T. bombs caused a hasty retreat of miners from the Hewitt's Creek concentration camp but no casualties were caused, according to the observers.

The bombs fell near houses occupied by the "red neck" army. Two planes were in action and four bombs were dropped. It is assumed here that no attempt was made to destroy houses or lives, but that the heavy explosive was used to warn the miners what would occur if they attempted to storm the Logan borders today.

Gain Defenders
Miners working in the Logan field, left the mines today to join the army of defense.

The mines had been working practically 80 per cent. Only such coal as is necessary here will be produced. The workers have shouldered rifles and are being thrown into the lines to reinforce the exhausted defense army.

The Defense Army
The 1500 miners added to the defense brings the Loganite army to nearly 3000 men.

The action of miners is regarded as highly significant as to the feeling of workers in this field. It is declared at headquarters that there have been no desertions to the "red necks," as the attacking army is known, because of the red bandanna handkerchiefs they wear around their arms.

After the miners had volunteered for defense service, Col. Wm. E. Eubank declared he would be able to hold his positions until the federal troops arrive.

Can Hold Positions
"I am pleased with the situation this morning," he told the International News Service. "I have sufficient forces to maintain our positions until the United States troops get to Logan."

One reinforcement party from Welch arrived this morning. There are coal miners who, headquarters say, receive nothing but food for their services. However, the Welch mine operators are paying the men, the same as though they were working in the mines.

Squadrons of airplanes were dispatched on a reconnaissance party at 8 o'clock. It was expected information would be available on their return.

News Cheers Defenders
The word that federal troops are coming was circulated widely along the Logan front this morning. The information was greeted with cheers.

The defense army stood with renewed determination on the receipt of the message. Everywhere it was declared the positions would be held until the arrival of the troops.

In Logan court house an intense feeling of relief followed the Washington dispatches.

Casualties are known to have occurred last night and early today, but because of the confusion and darkness it has been impossible to verify any of the reports.

Logan did not sleep last night. The women were up cooking for the defenders, the men were on the front or in reserve, snatching an hour or two of sleep at the court house between reliefs of the guard.

Boys of 15 years have been pressed into service. Old men of 80 are shouldering rifles and doing their turn at guard in the front line positions.

Civil War Veterans

Veterans of the civil war who are in the famous Logan border rangers, which fought in the civil war, are said to be under arms again. One of the men, a man of 78 years, a drummer boy in 1863, was in an advanced observation post last night. An effort was made to burn and dynamite the Chesapeake and Ohio bridge on the Guyan valley division at Big Creek early today.

A portion of the bridge was burned and dynamite was discovered by a sentinel who extinguished the fire.

If the bridge had been destroyed the only railroad communication to Logan would have been cut off. This would have prevented the arrival of supplies and caused a big delay in the dispatch of United States troops.

The Big Creek bridge is over Guyan river. It is a long span and its replacement would have been difficult.

As a result a heavier guard has been thrown out over the railroad line.

Official Report

The official communication of Col. Eubank, commander of the volunteers this morning said:

"Heavy firing took place at Mill Creek at 5:30 a. m. The miners made a concerted attack but were thrown back."

"There was firing at Crooked Creek all night. Reinforcements were dispatched to the danger zones. The miners were unable to advance."

"Forty men, mostly former A. E. F. officers, arrived from Charleston. Other reinforcements arrived from Welch."

Defenders Driven In

At Crooked Creek a detachment of 50 men defending a mountain pass was thrown back a half mile by a heavy attack of the miners just after daybreak.

The detachment "dug in" after retreating and was able to hold their position against repeated attacks of the miners' army. No counter attack was attempted, reinforcements being awaited.

The authorities say there were no casualties in this battle.

The planes left Logan about daylight with their big bombs swinging underneath. They carried maps giving location of points headquarters desired to bomb for "moral effect."

The ships soared out over the front at a great height. When they came in the vicinity of the miners they

TRUCK DEMOLISHED WHEN STRUCK BY FREIGHT TRAIN

A mammoth Mack truck, in which R. I. Underwood, and T. D. McElroy, both of San Fernando, were riding, was completely demolished when it was struck by Southern Pacific freight No. 264 at the intersection of the Southern Pacific tracks and Glendale boulevard yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock. After being struck by the engine the wrecked truck was carried for a distance of about 250 feet before the train could be brought to a stop. The fortunate part of the affair is that upon being struck, the truck lodged upon the cowcatcher in such a way as to be slid along the rails rather than being turned over. This fact alone is responsible for the driver, Mr. Underwood, being still alive. When the collision occurred, young McElroy jumped to the side of the road and came out of the fray uninjured, but Underwood was fastened in the cab in such a way as to make it impossible for him to escape. He remained in the cab until the train, which, it is claimed, was going at a comparatively slow rate of speed, was brought to a stop. Witnesses of the accident hurried to his assistance expecting to find him mangled, but to their surprise he was still alive. His leg was found to be broken, however, and he was rushed to the Glendale Sanitarium, where his injuries were attended to. At latest reports he was resting easy.

A collie dog that was riding in the truck was killed.

When hit, the truck was headed toward Los Angeles. It was loaded with household furniture, and this was scattered along the track for the entire distance that the truck was carried. The members of the large crowd that soon gathered carried the various pieces of furniture, several unbroken, to the sides of the tracks.

The stories conflict as to the cause of the accident. Underwood says that as he approached the tracks he saw a railroad tie lying across them. The west side of the road at this point had been closed for some time, during which repairs were being made. Workmen, Underwood says, removed the tie and motioned him to "come on." He started but when he was on the tracks and saw the train bearing down on him, he headed the truck down the tracks, this being the best thing, according to his own opinion, that he could do.

The flagman states that as Underwood approached the tracks he did not stop, and although he, the flagman, held up his "stop" signal and motioned for the truck to stop, it continued to come ahead. Workmen, the flagman says, yelled frantically at the driver to stop, but Underwood either did not hear their cries or failed to heed them.

While being carried along the tracks the truck carried with it a large battery box by which the block signal system at that point is operated. Within an hour after the accident, workmen had the system in operation again.

The truck is owned by the San Fernando Transfer Company and was insured.

A BOON TO THE HOUSEWIFE. NOT AS ONE MIGHT SUPPOSE, was the attractive copper tub, by which the Coffield Electric Washer is known, designed for beauty alone! No, indeed, for copper is really the most durable metal known, and when lined with pure tin, as is the Coffield, it is a product that will last throughout years of service without the slightest sign of wear—and WASHER WILSON, of 140 South Brand boulevard, guarantees it to be absolutely rust-proof! Another interesting feature is that although the Coffield is practically the same size machine as many whose capacity is only six sheets—this tub will easily accommodate eight! It is the new oscillating type, and exceedingly simple to operate for the tub rotates on its own axis—thus doing away with innumerable extra springs! Yes, and there is the handy twelve-inch wringer, which locks in eight different positions, and is equipped with a double stationary drainboard. Washer Wilson is selling the new Coffield for only $145—and he'll arrange easy terms, too—as low as $5.00 down and $10.00 per month!

INCOME PROPERTY. FOR AN INVESTMENT you needn't look further! VANDENHOFF, of 205 North Brand boulevard, has just the property! It is a three-room modern bungalow, situated on a large corner lot—75x156—in the foothill district—facing Central avenue! There is plenty of room for several other bungalows—perhaps a bungalow court—and the price is only $4500—with but a small payment down!

eral boys of Glendale who attempted to break all pie-eating records, provided laughs galore for the audience. The boys consumed quantities of Glendale-made pies and the losers, as well as the winners, left the stage with a satisfied look on their faces, and who wouldn't look satisfied with a whole San Sweet prune pie under his belt?

As a fitting climax to the evening the curtain rose for the justly famous bedroom suite scene. The entire stage setting represented a complete boudoir, completely equipped by merchants of Glendale. The wallpaper was furnished and hung by Harry Moore, electric fixtures were by the Glendale Electric Company, Harry C. Smith contributed the pictures, while the Page Furniture Company supplied the furniture. Last, but not least, the H. S. Webb Company supplied the models.

ARE YOU A GOOD GUESSER? IS THERE MUSIC IN YOUR HOME? Have you a phonograph? If not, here is your opportunity to get a lovely phonograph, absolutely free! THE BARNES SHUCK MUSIC COMPANY, of 211 North Brand boulevard, have, in their booth at the Exposition, a jar filled with phonograph needles! You must guess the number—write it on a piece of paper together with your name and address, and put it in the ballot box! To the person who guesses closest to the number of needles, will be given, free, one of the new Sequoia Phonographs! You know tomorrow is the

THERE ARE THREE. YUM-M-M! HOT BISCUITS—"just like mother used to bake"—is what they're served at the NEALE AND GREGG HARDWARE COMPANY'S Booth at the Exposition! Yes, it is a baking demonstration—featuring the Reliable Range and the new Lorain oven heat regulator! And, truly, every housewife should visit this booth, for the Lorain is something which she should know about—and besides the scientific baking demonstration is wonderfully interesting! You've never tasted such biscuits, and such cakes as they're making daily! And in another booth is the display of Wear-Ever Aluminum Ware, which is being offered at such unusual prices at Neale & Gregg's Store—197 North Brand boulevard, during Exposition Week! Wear-Ever Aluminum has long been recognized as a standard for quality and service—and this is truly a rare opportunity to secure a supply of the finest saucers (which regularly sell for $1.15 each) for only 29c a piece! And there is still another booth of Neale & Gregg's—a third that will surely interest father—particularly if he likes to "putter" around the house and dabb a little paint here and there!—for this booth is a handsome display of Sherwin Williams Paints and Varnishes!

The robes for fall are of unusual pattern and color effect—with striking shades and light and shadow. It is said that for these evening robes, the high shades are particularly well liked.

plied the gowns and Classic Marlowe and her models furnished atmosphere and additional beauty.

Bedroom Suite. When the curtain rose Classic Marlowe was discovered seated before a dressing table, completing her toilet. She was wearing—well, it wasn't exactly a street gown, neither was it a house dress. In fact, it was something all frilly, and pink and everything. She was in the act of choosing a gown to wear from a large selection displayed for her choice by a maid.

One by one the models tripped to the stage and down the runway wearing evening gowns that were revelations of beauty. As they returned to the stage the girls grouped around the center to make a fitting background for Miss Marlowe, who appeared clad in a black creation that was exquisite.

One of the features of this display of evening gowns was Irene Ingalls, who displayed one of the loveliest gowns of the evening and also sang. Miss Ingalls has the power to hold an audience until the last note of her song has passed from a reality to a pleasant memory and last night was no exception.

Prize Winners. After the fashion show had ended Mr. LeBreque announced the awarding of the prizes. Prizes were given ranging from large rugs and accessories for the automobile to chicken feed and doughnuts. All of these prizes were donated by Glendale merchants having booths at the exposition and thoroughly proved the often repeated statement that the merchants can supply as high grade goods and as reasonable in price as can be purchased in Los Angeles or other cities.

Regarding the Gowns. H. S. Webb prides himself on living up to the slogan of the Merchants' Exposition, "Buy at Home" and so made no secret of the fact that the beautiful coats from his establishment that we exhibited last night, were manufactured in Los Angeles.

They but emphasized the impression already abroad that velvet, normandy and kindred fabrics with velvet-like pile are to be much to the fore in women's outer garments the coming season.

One very handsome example of dark brown normandy, fur trimmed, with a panel of self-colored embroidery running the length of the back, and bell sleeves was particularly noticeable and Mr. Webb admitted it would take a long purse to secure it, as the price would run somewhere around $300.

These velours and normandys are especially beautiful in the soft grays and the tempered browns know as chestnut and reindeer. Overlaying embroidery and braiding bring out the pure tones of the fabric, and make

You will enjoy hearing the great masters such as Godowsky, Kreisler Ornstein and others, and at times it will seem that you can almost see them sitting there—so live, and real is the music—for it is an exact reproduction of the artists playing, you know! Barnes Shuck have a representative list of Ampico rolls, so whether it be dance music, popular songs, home songs, some of the familiar ballads or rare old classics, they'll be glad to play any that you may choose!

If it is not given just the right degree of heat and taken out right on the minute—it has been ruined! But the housewives of Glendale have come to appreciate the unusual quality of Booth's special blend coffee, and thus they have fondly called Mr. Booth—the Coffee King!

REGISTRATION IS ON FOR PART TIME SCHOOL WORK

L. T. Rowley, truant officer of the registration of part-time pupils is beginning. He is planning to soon start a drive to round up those that expect to take part time work.

The California law now requires all pupils between the ages of 16 and 18 years who are not attending school regularly to take four hours instruction a week in some line recognized in the curriculum.

In some of the schools of the state, notably in Oakland, lines of study in pharmacy and chemistry which appertain to druggists' work have been organized. The druggists themselves have banded together to help pupils and to take them in like apprentices.

Mr. Rowley will visit the commercial establishments of the city to find out what young people are employed who come within the class mentioned that they may be prepared to register when school opens.

Last year this work was not organized in any of the schools because it is necessarily experimental. It is expected that all lines adapted to this four-hour requirement can be

Some pupils will take up work in the mechanical arts department where there will be considerable variety to choose from. Others will go in for art, music, sewing or cooking.

C. RAVENSCROFT ENJOYING HOLIDAY

From Race street, San Jose, comes the following characteristic communication from Charles Ravenscroft, beloved by companions and the Masons of all orders that meet in the Temple of which he has charge: Dear Glendale Press:—

Will you please change the address of the Press coming to Lawrence Ellis from Seattle to San Jose. We will be at home in Glendale September 5, after a lovely visit with our folks here. Have had many fine trips, among them one to the beach at Santa Cruz, over the new scenic highway, with the beautiful view of Monterey Bay. Have seen the wonderful big tree forest, the Lick Observatory, and many other things, have heard the organ recitals in Memorial Chapel, at Stanford University, and visited the museums there. The good time is going all too soon, but we will be glad to be in Glendale again.

AUTO ACCIDENT. Mrs. F. D. Gardner, 1016 East Broadway reports a collision between her car and another auto, driver unknown, yesterday, at the corner of Broadway and Adams street. Mrs. Gardner stated in her report that she gave the signal that she was going to turn into the driveway from the street, but the driver of the other car disregarded this signal and struck her car. Neither machine was damaged by the collision.

PENITENT MEXICANS ARE HAVING SOME HARD TIMES

By LOUIS P. KIRBY
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

MEXICO CITY, Mex., Sept. 2.—Patented letters have been received here from some of the political exiles who fled across the border when President Carranza's government was overthrown and made the mistake of plotting against the new men in power instead of burying the hatchet. Some, according to letters written to friends, are seeing hard times.

Many of these men, having held political office for years, were not fitted to find positions in a foreign field except as laborers, and some who once knew the pomp of the capital are toiling with their hands.

Even men who hold high positions under Carranza are reported to be "hard up." General Candido Aguilar, Carranza's son-in-law, and a member of his cabinet, is said to be eager to get back into Mexico.

His desire to return is believed here to be a confession that the Carranza coffers are empty and that there is no way of refilling them.

Work in the Office

General Aguilar is in San Antonio. So is General Francisco Murguia, who has made a futile but troublesome effort to start an uprising during the past six or eight months. What Murguia is doing on the other side of the border is not known, but it is said that he has little money and that he will face the necessity of going to work unless partisans help him. He had a little book store near the plaza, in Chihuahua, when revolution threw him into a high place. At one time he was master of Chihuahua and stabled his horses royally in the Theatre of the Heroes.

After years during which his experiences ranged from despotic ruler of a state to command of an army division, General Murguia would not, it is believed, return to the hum-drum life of a bookseller in a dusty little store. But if he failed to send money across the border in his days of power and prosperity he has a little fiscal problem to solve which may be more vexatious than any presented to him when he ruled Chihuahua.

Banditry Exists

Rebels still exist in Mexico, but few are better than bandits. A trouble-some band is reported to be operating in Oaxaca and the region of the Isthmus of Tehuantepec. These rebels are not strong, as it has been thought necessary to send only a part of a regiment against them, under command of Colonel Teodoro Zapata. The rebels' leader is Pedro Hernandez, who started his little uprising at Tuxtepec, state of Oaxaca. He is described here as a man of no importance, but that description would have fitted Pancho Villa in the days when he fed his band on stolen cows.

The absence of cows in many places is said to be the explanation of the absence of rebels or bandits. Where there is no cattle banditry languishes. Range land in parts of Mexico is completely bare of cattle.

Pointed Statement.

"Now, if you have that in your mind," said a professor who had just explained a theory to his students "you have it all in a nutshell!"

MOORING MAST TO ANCHOR SHIPS

(By International News Service)
LONDON, Sept. 2.—Work has begun at the London Airport, Croydon, on the task of erecting a 120-foot air-ship mooring mast.

The mast is to stand on concrete foundations, and tests in bringing airships to anchor are to be carried out with it.

A mooring can be made at the mast and swinging freely head to wind—by the use of a handful of skilled men.

The safety of these masts can be judged by the fact that the R-33 has been out at Pulham Airfield at a mast since February and has suffered no ill effects.

SNAKES MILK COWS

WOOSTER, Ohio, Sept. 2.—A heated argument as to whether it is possible for snakes to milk cows has involved Wayne county and other interested farmers.

The controversy started when a farmer reported that several of his cows had been milked by large snakes.

A local doctor said such a thing was impossible. Now, every other farmer in the county is recalling instances where snakes have been known to milk cows.

J. J. PARKER BUYS HOME

J. J. Parker of Toledo, O., arrived in Southern California a short time ago and has been visiting friends in Alhambra. He has made several trips to Glendale and yesterday announced that he had decided this is the place for him and purchased the house of J. Arthur Nuttall, 439 West Doran street for a home. Parr & Kase, 112 South Brand boulevard, negotiated the sale.

RELIEF IS PLANNED FOR PRISONERS IN FRANCE

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 2.—Plans are being made for the relief of American prisoners in French prisons, according to a statement made by Dr. L. O. Bricker, pastor of the First Christian Church. The effort will be made through the cooperation of the Church Prison Commission and the United States Government.

H. Cleveland Cox, former vice-consul general at Paris, revealed French prison conditions in a letter to Chas. N. Walker, of Atlanta, secretary of the Church Prison Commission. Mr. Cox is now a captain in Red Cross service. The letter told of unbelievable sufferings and hardships, stating many were "on the verge of starvation."

Dr. Bricker, who has been to Washington, stated he had unsuccessfully laid the matter before Attorney-General Daugherty, with a view to securing Government aid in an inspection of French prisons where Americans are confined.

A letter written by Dr. Bricker to the French civil and military authorities, in which he asked permission for members of the Church Prison Commission to visit Americans confined in French jails, met with no reply.

Dr. Bricker said American hope of success lies in creating strong public sentiment, which will enable the Church Prison Commission to secure

MILLION LETTERS CARRIED

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 2.—One million letters have been carried in ten months by Eddie Hubbard, United States aerial mail pilot, operating between Victoria and Seattle.

This service was inaugurated to speed up delivery of Australian and Oriental mails, with the particular object of assisting business houses on the Pacific Coast.

Government aid in bringing about an investigation. He said French authorities will not permit the Red Cross or other relief organizations to aid the sufferers.

HAS HARD LUCK

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 2.—Do you believe in the "ancient bit" of superstition concerning the seven years of bad luck?

James Eshelby, president of a local tobacco manufacturing company, does. Here's why.

He dropped and broke a hand mirror recently. His new auto was stolen that night. Then, a few days later, a thief stole accessories from his other machine. Next, burglars cleaned out his attic, taking bourbon, rye, champagne, gin and burgundy valued at $400.

"Cheer up. The first five years are the hardest," reads a note which accompanied a rabbit's foot, a horseshoe, a buckeye and a four-leaf clover which friends sent to Eshelby.

BUFFALO WILL BE

SOLD OR SLAIN

EDMONTON, Alta., Sept. 2.—One thousand buffalo are for sale by the Dominion Government. They are for the most part bulls and represent the surplus of the herd of nearly 5000 in the national park at Wainwright, Alta. The park is the largest wild game preserve under fence in the world. It contains more than 100,000 acres and could support 25,000 buffalo readily. But there is little winter pasturage because of the deep snows, and a vast quantity of hay has to be cut every year to carry the herd through the cold season. This difficulty will make it necessary to limit the maximum size of the herd to 10,000 head.

The herd is now growing rapidly. As the number of breeding cows increases its rate of growth will be more rapid. Nearly a third of the animals are bulls. So large a proportion of males is unnecessary, and, under the present plan, they will be sold or killed and sold for meat. The slaughter will begin when cool weather sets in in the fall.

The Wainwright herd has developed from 3000 bison bought from Michael Pablo, of Montana, in 1909. The national park is in the prairie country that was the original habitat of the bison. The herd is the largest in the world. Of the millions of bison that once roamed the continent, only 11 remain, according to the last census of the American Bison Society.

A Danish peasant has just bought a motor car from a country lawyer for the sum of $40 chickens. That may be a good trade in Denmark, but we shall go right on with our great national outdoor sport of buying cars for chickens, rather than with them!

REBECCA OF SYRACUSE

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Mrs. Antonia Herro, with admirable patience, waited for her husband two days and two nights in a railway station here. With her were three children. They had arrived from Niagara Falls expecting to be met by Herro. He was not at the station. Mrs. Herro could not speak English. Herro's only known address was the number of a postoffice box. To this a telegram was hastened. Herro was employed in the suburbs. It was two days before he received the telegram. A happy reunion followed.

THE GLENDALE PRESS IS UP TO DATE

The Glendale Press has been complimented upon its up-to-date metropolitan appearance. It has been complimented on its two-edition feature.

These changes were necessary because of the demands of Glendale. The Glendale Press changes.

It changes today. It will change tomorrow.

It does not promise to remain as it was originally—a purely home-town local newspaper—so long as the spirit of Glendale is one of daily expansion and modern advance.

It does not insist upon Glendale remaining a home town.

It looks forward to the day of the Glendale metropolis, when the home-town newspaper will be a thing of the past—outgrown, discarded, junked, as out of pace with the times.

If the Glendale Press can only expand with the cadence of the city—although its resources may at times be strained to the utmost—it will continue to be proud of the fact that at least it is the leading newspaper of Glendale, typographically as well as in news matter.

It feels that today and next year there is no room in Glendale for an unmovably home-town newspaper.

It hopes it will never be so regarded.

MONEY AND LOVE

Too many mothers are teaching their daughters that money should be the deciding factor in prospective marriage.

Daughters in the home hear harsh words in regard to money matters, and they get to feel that money is the real cause of trouble after marriage.

Arguments about finances are distasteful, and when a mother is heard to remark that if she had married "So and So" she might be enjoying what that man's wife enjoys, a bad effect is produced in the child's mind.

Naturally a girl brought up in such an atmosphere is not going to feel that love is first in marriage.

If among her suitors she finds that one has more money than the rest, then her sweetest smile is reserved for the one she thinks can give her the sort of life her own home experience has taught her a wife needs.

But such ideas are not ideal concerning the marriage relation.

It is doubtful if such a marriage could be even fairly happy. Money cannot make up for genuine companionship and the interested, tender feelings which exist where love is present.

Money is not the most precious thing in the world.

General Dawes' musical composition is called "Melody in A Major." It must have been written before he attained his present rank.

It is difficult to decide which has received greater benefit from modern styles—the jokesmith or the mosquito.

The successful man who scorns publicity always has a few spare photographs of himself when the reporter calls.

All nations struggle to win foreign markets—and then the winner is a "sinister menace to the peace of the world."

FAME OF GLENDALE WILL BE SPREAD BY H. C. ELLS

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ells left yesterday for an automobile trip, of at least two months, through the middle west and to their old homes in Minneapolis, Minn., and Minot, N. D. It is not a pleasure trip only, as Mr. Ells plans to distribute at least 10,000 12-page folders which contain descriptions of Glendale and vicinity, and emphasize the desirability of Glendale both for investment and a home. The booklets are issued and distributed at Mr. Ells' own expense, and were printed by the Glendale Daily Press, and they contain statistical data and other information that should result in a material increase in the number of visitors and investors.

Mr. Ells is first, last and all the time a booster and spends his money to spread the gospel of Southern California and Glendale. After several trips to California, and a thorough investigation of localities and conditions, he selected Glendale as having the greatest future and located here a little more than a year ago.

For a time, Mr. Ells was associated with the Hart Realty Company, but recently opened offices of his own at 800 South Brand boulevard, where he will undoubtedly continue his success as an exclusive realtor. His courtesy and close attention to business holds friends and makes new ones. He has associated with him, in his new location, Mr. E. G. Warren, recently of the Warren-Schimmelfenn firm on North Brand. Mr. Warren has been a resident of Glendale a comparatively short time but he has the confidence of all who know him and his experience and congenial manners will add to the popularity and success of the new real estate office.

Before coming here, Mr. Ells had a large and varied experience in the handling of real estate, in all its branches, and was, for more than four years, the paid secretary of a chamber of commerce. His experience in Y. M. C. A. work over-seas, six months in France and six months in Italy, has created within him a human sympathy and a feeling of kindness for all with whom he comes in contact. He returned from Italy with the honorary rank of Captain in the Italian army.

Mr. Ells will gladly furnish his descriptive booklet on Glendale, if Glendale people wish to send it to friends or relatives in the east. It is stamped with the Griffith trademark of originality in sets, character and photography. The story is one of tense drama, yet sprinkled with the humorous bits of life that come to each of us in our quest for the key to happiness.

The second episode of "The Miracles of the Jungle" pleased with its mystery, action and remarkable animal acting.

With a Tony Sarg's comic to add to the variety of the bill, and a synopsis special by Henri Monnet at the Wurlitzer, there's entertainment for the whole family. The same program holds over through Saturday at popular prices.

CITY COUNCIL DOINGS AT MEETING LAST NIGHT

Permits Are Granted, Bids Opened and Appointment of City Attorney and Chief of Police Laid Over for Two Weeks—Several Applications for Positions

At the regular meeting of the City Council last night, J. Herbert McCann was granted a permit to operate dances on Saturday evenings at the Pearl Keller Studio, 109-A North Brand boulevard. These will be known as the Blue Moon dances.

Lorin G. Babcock and Elwood M. Ingledue made application for a franchise to furnish the city with not less than 50 sheet-iron waste paper containers. It is the purpose of these men to make the containers three feet high, and two feet square, and to cover the sides with advertising matter. This application was referred to the city manager and the chairman of the welfare committee.

Bids for furnishing pipe and fittings for Municipal Improvement District No. 4, were received and opened. All of these were referred to the city manager for checking, the instructions being for him to report on them at the next regular meeting.

Robert T. Hamilton, 830 East Harvard street, made application for the position of building inspector. This application was referred to the city manager.

A permit was asked by B. G. Jackson for permission to operate a garage and oil filling station at 1600 South San Fernando road. The permit was granted.

Bids were opened for material for the sewer in Municipal Improvement District No. 3, the Verdugo Canyon section. These were laid over for two weeks to give the city manager time to check them and also to permit the Council to visit the California

Glazed Products Company and learn the virtues of the products put out by that concern.

An ordinance was adopted accepting the Sierra Avenue District as a part of the city of Glendale. This section voted recently in favor of annexing to this city.

It was decided that City Manager Reeves and Councilman Davis should jointly visit the property owners on Los Feliz road, the widening of which is proposed, to see if some satisfactory settlement cannot be made in the matter.

Two of Glendale's councilmen are finding that they need a little recreation. Councilman Lapham is going fishing for a week and will return to Glendale next Thursday. Councilman Stephenson left this morning for Catalina, where he will revel in the ocean breezes and the surf, and after the band concert, trip the light fantastic to his heart's content.

The matter of appointing a city attorney, chief of police and other city officials was laid over for two weeks.

Three applications were received for the privilege of doing street work by private contract. One of these came from C. W. Wison, who wants to improve 555 feet on San Fernando road between Park avenue and Garfield avenue. Another was from Henry Blumenthal, 722 North Central, who desires to do some street work at 114 South Brand. The third was from John W. Henderson, who wants to improve 212 feet at 120 South Glendale avenue. A permit was granted in each of these cases.

VERDUGO WATER PLANT IS VALUED AT $21,840

G. B. Woodberry and J. C. Sherer Report to City Council Upon Plant of Local Company, Which Will Be Acted On at the Next Meeting of Council

The appraisal of the value of the holdings of the Verdugo Canyon Water Company in Verdugo Canyon, the purchase of which system is under consideration by the Glendale City Council, has been made. At a meeting of the Council some time ago, it was decided that a representative be appointed by the city, another by the water company and that a disinterested party be selected to complete a committee of three for appraisal purposes. The city appointed G. B. Woodberry and the water company appointed J. C. Sherer, both of whom are well informed as to values in the canyon. These two gentlemen have had a meeting and have without the services of the disinterested party, decided upon a fair valuation of the company's property. The figures, which will be presented to the City Council at its next regular meeting, are as follows:

Cost of the distributing plant up to 1898, including mains, division, boxes, etc. $11,500
Cost of underground development work 18,745
Present estimated value of 7.81 acres of land 7,500
Additional pipe lines since 1898 685
Estimated value rights-of-way 1,000
Total $39,430

Less the following items:
Depreciation on items 1, 2 and 4 at 33 1/3 per cent $10,310

Net value, Ross and Thom interests, included $29,120
Ross and Thom interests, one-fourth deducted 7,280
Net value of the company's property $21,840

Fashions Sway Crowds at Local Exposition

tures, no matter how long the Exposition continues, and means, while the public is on tiptoe, to see what is coming next.

Yesterday Afternoon

"Ladies and Gentlemen" these are the words that Harry LaBrique used to open the afternoon session of the Glendale Merchants' Exposition Revue and they are the old-time follower of the tan bark ring back to the days when the ubiquitous ring master advanced to the middle of the ring, high silk hat in hand, and told the assembled cash customers just how many ways the daring equestriennes and leaping acrobats would risk their lives. "All for fifty cents, the half of a dollar."

Director General LeBrique's announcement came at a time when the afternoon crowd at the tent had completed a round of the displays on exhibition and, in the language of the poet, were beginning to wonder "Where do we go from here." A trade exposition is all right, but all business and no play makes an awful difference in the gate receipts, after the first day, and knowing this Mr. LeBrique has arranged a program of play that is alone worth going miles to see. He has secured talent for each afternoon and evening that send the customers home strong for the Revue, and determined to be present at every performance each day. Every act is kept a secret until time for the performance, adding mystery, as well as talent, to the program.

The first offering on the program yesterday afternoon was Harry Moore, Glendale's own wallpaper impresario, who took a bunch of wallpaper, a bucket of paste, a brush and a pair of shears and in less time than it takes to say "How's the folks?" had papered the walls of the set used in last night's fashion revue.

After the wallpaper act, G. P. Goodfellow and his playmate, Earl Adams knocked the piano and drums for a row of melodies and Oh! Lady! how these boys can play. Earl Adams makes a piano do everything but play poker, while Goodfellow makes a set of drums plead for mercy. At night these purveyors of harmony are assisted by fellow jazz hounds armed with violin, cornet and saxophone. It is their purpose to see that there is not a dull moment during the show and to say the least they are making good.

While waiting for the appearance of the next act on the bill, Mr. LeBrique awarded a few prizes. After he had given away one pound of coffee, $2 in cash, some Sun Sweet Prune products, 10 quarts of milk, a dozen doughnuts and a jazz horn, Mr. LeBrique announced that Miss Irene Ingalls would sing. She chose "My Little Gray Home in the West" and captured the audience with her pleasing rendition of the number.

After Goodfellow and Adams had assaulted the piano and drums for a few more rounds of harmony, the star attraction of the afternoon was announced. Marjorie Howard, that winsome little miss, late of Gus Edwards' Revue sang "Si, Si, Señor." Miss Howard has a style all her own that she used to put this song over. She sings with plenty of jazz and pep, and when she combined her singing with the dance that accompanies the song, we'll say she surely shook a "mean tambourine."

More prizes were awarded, more music and the crowds took a final look at the exhibits before rushing home in time to return for the evening session under the tent.

BIG 'MOON FESTIVAL' OPENS TODAY IN TUJUNGA

The big things are on at Tujunga today, and consequently the crowds are headed northward. For two months, the boosters of Tujunga, all of them members of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce, have been laying out and perfecting plans for the big Moon Festival that will be held there from September 2 to 6, inclusive.

The booster spirit is contagious, and for that reason it may be that it is because Tujunga is located so close to Glendale that she is spreading out. Anyway, the little town to the north is really up and doing things. Tujunga has a Chamber of Commerce which, for the spirit that it radiates, would put in the shade some of the chambers of many big cities. The members of that chamber are constantly on their toes. They are "rarin' to go," as they say. No problem is too big for them to undertake and when they start a thing they usually carry it to a successful conclusion. These are the kind of fellows who have this big Moon Festival in charge. They have planned an elaborate program for each day and evening and there seems to be no end of the big surprises that they are going to spring on the folks who are fortunate enough to be able to attend this affair.

Extensive preparations have been made for the reception and entertainment of visiting motorists. The committees in charge will be right on hand to give the visitors the glad hand. Their hospitality will not stop there, either. They will take care of the visitor during his entire stay in their community and will even go so far as to "put him up" over night.

Among the features that will stand out during the festival will be the "Millionaire's Club" smoker, a cobbler's laying contest by C. G. Terry and George Harris, etc. A program of sports and athletic events will be held each afternoon, while on the closing day of the festival there will be elaborate ceremonies in honor of the queen of the festival. At night the big grove in which the festival will be held will be made as bright as day by hundreds of electric lights.

DAVIS CUP TRAVELS THOUSANDS OF MILES

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The Davis Cup, which ranks with the America's Cup as one of the world's most famous sporting trophies, and in defense of which the American team will meet the Japanese in the first matches of the challenge round at Forest Hills today, has traveled 100,000 miles in 20 years.

The mileage record of the cup itself throws a significant sidelight on the magnitude of the contest. Last year, for instance, the United States team that brought the cup home from Australia, where it had rested for six years, traveled 27,000 miles: "Billy" Johnson had to go from San Francisco to New York, then to London, then back to San Francisco by way of New York. He sailed from Vancouver to Auckland, New Zealand; then dashed off a thousand miles or so to Sydney, Australia, then embarked for San Francisco and home.

Tired of Traveling

The other members of the team, of course, had to cover the same distance, so it was not surprising when they got back that Sam Hardy, the captain, said he had all the "globe trotting" he wanted for a while. That team's record was for one season only, while the cup has been in more or less steady circulation for 20 years. England, Australia and the United States have shared the honor of holding it during that period. One needs only a glance at the map to gain some idea of the distance it had to go whenever it changed hands.

Another notable thing is that the silver sides are so closely covered with the names of men who have played on the various teams that space for an additional engraving had to be found.

What Cup Looks Like

The Davis Cup itself is a huge bowl of sterling silver, which revolves on a heavy pedestal. Both the bowl and the base bear handsome Georgian designs of heavy case silver decorations on the upper and lower rim, shading off in the hand-chased patterns where the bowl and pedestal join. The same design is worked out in heavy silver on the outer rim of the tray. The inside of the bowl is gold-plated.

Some idea of the size of the tray which will serve as a salver for the cup may be gained from the fact that it weighs 300 ounces Troy, while the cup itself weighs only 217 ounces. Placed upright beside the cup it stands more than twice as high, although the cup measures 13 inches in height.

BETTER ROADS ARE NEEDED IN MEXICO

By LOUIS P. KIRBY
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 2.—Mexico is rapidly becoming a motoring country, and for this reason greater attention is being paid to the roads of the country.

Highway improvement is to be considered at a National Good Roads Congress, which will be opened here on September 5 with an address by President Obregon.

Organizations in all parts of Mexico will be represented, including chambers of commerce and automobile clubs.

Few countries are in greater need of road improvement than Mexico, and there are few countries in which the needed materials could be more easily obtained.

Bad Roads are Nightmare

There are some good roads out of Mexico City, but in many places the motorist, on leaving the streets of a city, plunges almost at once into a nightmare of bad roads.

Road building has been neglected for years. Many roads which could be made important links between business centers are little more than trails, washed by rains on hillsides and deep in dust or sand in the lowlands.

As good roads will stimulate the buying of American motor cars automobile men are taking a lively interest in the forward movement. According to figures gathered by the American Chamber of Commerce here, Mexico is second only to Canada in the buying of American automobiles, tires and accessories, even under present conditions.

Improvements Are Planned

Improvement in the highways is expected to put Mexico at the head of the list as a buyer of motor cars, and automobile men are looking forward to great things.

Because the prospects for the automobile business in Mexico appear to be so bright there are frequent rumors that leading American manufacturers of motor cars, trucks and tractors are preparing to build branch plants here.

According to figures prepared here, Mexico's purchases of motor cars, tires and accessories from June 1 to June 30, exceeded $7,500,000. This would be at the rate of $90,000,000 a year, but automobile men say that even greater things may be expected if there is no interruption in the present advancement in Mexico.

WILLIAM L. MOORE MARRIES

For some time, rumors have been circulating to the effect that one of the most eligible bachelors of the city, William Lindsay Moore, proprietor of the Irish Linen Store, was about to become a benedict.

They have been confirmed by a card just received by The Glendale Daily Press, postmarked at San Francisco, announcing the marriage of Mr. Moore on August 30 to Miss Agnes Eugenia Swanson, in the First English Lutheran Church of San Francisco. Dr. J. R. Braener officiating. Hart and Ruth Bellingier of Monrovia were named as witnesses, together with the information that Mr. and Mrs. Moore will make their home in this city at 351 Vine street.

Mr. Moore is one of the most enterprising and popular merchants of our city and an enthusiastic Glendalian. He is expected to arrive here with his bride tomorrow, and will be welcomed by a host of friends.

dived suddenly took a position for bombing and let the missiles of destruction fall.

Planes Cause Alarm

Consternation and confusion resulted. It was declared by pilots that the miners were thrown into almost a state of panic.

The bombs threw great showers of dirt and rocks over the houses occupied by the "red necks," but no real damage was caused.

Airplanes were requested by signal from the Crooked Creek detachment when they were forced to beat a retreat early today. This is on the left flank of the defending army.

Check Advance

After arrival of the planes the miners' advance was checked.

Machine guns were also used by the defenders in this position. The attacking party is said to have outnumbered the defenders 3 to 1. The use of airplanes in repelling the miners' attack at Crooked Creek and to disperse them at Hewitt's Creek is believed here to be the first case on record where airplanes have been used in industrial warfare.

At headquarters it was declared the airplanes would be used farther today if necessity demanded.

SCHOOL BOND VOTE TO CALL $260,000 BOND ELECTION

siderably cut down by condemnation proceedings. Except where this land is immediately needed for building purposes the board could wait for possession. In view, however, of the rapid advance in land values in this city within the past three months, and the probability of a like advance between now and the time when proceeds of a bond issue if passed would be advisable, it was deemed wise not to cut the total estimate of the land committee.

Decides to Call Election

The advisory committee adjourned subject to the call of the Board of Education, which immediately went into executive session and voted to call a bond election in the sum of $260,000 as recommended by the advisory committee some time in the early part of October, the formal resolution setting the date to be passed at the next meeting of the board after the necessary papers have been prepared by the county superintendent of schools.

O. W. Fitz, R. W. Meeker and Mr. Patterson addressed the board relative to the school site known as the Eighth or Maple street site which the board was instructed two years ago by a mass meeting of citizens to sell when it could be disposed of to the best advantage.

The gentlemen named are subdividing property adjoining this site and their plans for the opening of streets are blocked by this undivided acreage. They, therefore, proposed to the board to include it in their subdivision and sell it as lots rather than acreage, thereby realizing a better price.

After thorough debate on the matter a decision was reached that a resolution agreeing to the proposition would be passed at the next meeting of the board, provided the matter could be legally carried out.

BUILDING PERMITS

The following building permits were issued since noon yesterday:
W. H. Filson, three-room addition, 834 West Doran $ 800
S. N. Brown, eight rooms, 401-403 South Glendale avenue 3500
Fred P. Hogue, alterations, 320 West Windsor 200
Frank Elmer, four rooms, 800 East Windsor, by Cline 500
The September total is now $22,200 and for the year, $2,917,899.

If every resident of Glendale put his hand in his pocket, and drew therefrom $30 and contributed it to a pool, the pool would represent approximately the value of the property constructed and under permit to be constructed up to the close of business August 31.

With all the building in greater Los Angeles, the pro rata of building investment to population is only $7.

That of Pasadena about $9, although this is considered a leading coming metropolis of Southern California.

Glendale has not boasted to the skies. It has dug cellars. It has not lauded itself upon being the home of multiwealthy people of the east. It has bought itself good comfortable residences.

For those who are interested in the statistics of the building of the city, which to those who study city growth is the true history of a community, a chart of the last dozen years has been compiled by the Glendale Press. It shows the total for every month in the twelve years. It shows the total today for 1921, which is only $241,792 less than the total of all building in 1920. This indicates that within the next month, building here will exceed the total for last year. Within the next three months the figures should exceed last year's record by half a million dollars.

"PERSIAN GARDEN" OPERATIC STARS SELECTED

Madame Cavalleri has been selected or leading soprano in the production of "The Persian Garden," to be given September 17 in Verdugo Woodlands under the auspices of the music section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, according to information given out by Miss Eva Daniels, who has been named as publicity chairman. Miss Daniels also states that the leading contralto will be either Nell Lockwood or June Harding. Ray Gordon will have the tenor role, and George Walker the bass solos.

Supplementing the work of these artists will be a mixed chorus of fine voices and a coterie of classic dancers.

This beautiful work has never been given in this way west of New York and Glendaleans should appreciate the opportunity to enjoy such a production in the beautiful outdoor setting that will be provided in Verdugo Woodlands.

Mrs. C. L. Marlenee, curator of the section, and Mrs. Charles A. Parker, who is acting as general manager for the section, are enthusiastic over the prospect and say it will not only be a big feather in the cap of their organization but a tremendous advertisement of Glendale, as it will draw music lovers from all parts of Southern California.

HAGENJOFF'S HAVE SON

Mr. and Mrs. Hagenjoff, 402 East Palmer, are rejoicing over the arrival of a fine boy born on September 1 at the Glendale Sanitarium.

BOY BORN

A fine baby boy came to Mr. and Mrs. E. Brown, 319 North Howard street on September 1. They have named the little fellow Cloyd, and reports are that mother and son are doing nicely.

Personals

Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Chase, 239 North Orange street, are leaving this morning for a week's stay in San Francisco and Oakland. Dr. Chase is not in good health and he hopes that a few days' vacation will do him good. Miss Shirley Chase will spend a week in Los Angeles visiting an aunt and other friends.

Mrs. Eugenia Hanger, 337 West Ivy street, will make an address on Sunday at the Union Mission in Long Beach. The subject of her address will be "The Holy Spirit." Next week Mrs. Hanger will be at one of the missions in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Nanno Woods, 122 Milford street, receives daily letters from her daughters, Kathleen and Dorothy, who are at present in San Francisco on the Orpheum circuit. After their engagement there they are scheduled to appear for two weeks in Los Angeles.

E. G. Warren, who has been associated with C. E. Schimmelfeng at 217 North Brand, has moved to 300 South Brand, where he will continue in the real estate brokerage business with H. C. Ellis.

P. C. Brown of Fergus Falls, Minn., and A. D. Knox of St. Louis, are new arrivals in Glendale and have associated themselves with the Glendale Realty Company.

Miss Gertrude Roost, who came to Glendale from Denver, Colo., recently, is now residing at 133 South Pacific avenue.

Mrs. B. R. Heichard, formerly of Cuba, Ill., has come here from Huntington Park to make her home at 451 West Wilson avenue.

Mrs. Eva M. Hutton, 326 East Colorado street, is to be hostess at a miscellaneous shower given at her home by the members of the choir of the Central Christian church and the Liye Cole and Alpha Omega classes of that church, for Willard Learned and Mrs. Grace Utter Learned, who are leaving soon to take up their studies in the east.

Hugh Hatton, and Mrs. Helen Small Hatton, who were recently married in Long Beach, have come to Glendale to make their home at 221½ Hawthorne.

Miss Callisher, who formerly resided at 716-A South Brand boulevard, has taken up her abode at 201½ Park Grove avenue, Los Angeles.

Mrs. Fred Lynch and her mother, have returned to Glendale to take an apartment at the Brandale, 216 South Brand boulevard.

J. G. Barney has entered into the grocery business at 235 North Columbus avenue.

Mrs. Harry Sibley of 718 South Brand boulevard had a party of Glendaleans, including Mrs. Sibley's sister, Mrs. E. E. Redfern, and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Merry, motored to Riverside on business and pleasure this week. Although they claim they spent a pleasant day, all the members of the party agreed that they were glad to return to Glendale, with its cool breezes and even climate. Riverside is too hot to lure them.

Dale Wood, Alton Mattice and Paul Edmonds went to Camp Kolo on the west fork of the San Gabriel river this morning to attend the Y. M. C. A. conference, September 2 to 9 inclusive.

Miss Margaret Falkey, formerly of Chicago, has just accepted a position as stenographer at the Glendale Chamber of Commerce. Miss Falkey says that while Chicago is all right in ways, after all is said and done there is no place like Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. Naylor Rogers and two children arrived in Glendale yesterday afternoon from Washington, D. C., and are staying at present at 217 West Lomita avenue. Mr. Rogers, who is a newspaperman of some note, went to Washington last fall to work on a big newspaper there, but was in-

QUIET WEDDING OF MISS JUNE HUSKINS AND J. B. JOHNSON

Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the pastor's study of the Temple Baptist Church in Los Angeles, the wedding of Miss June Huskins to J. Burton Johnson was quietly solemnized, Dr. J. Whitcomb Brothier performing the ceremony.

The bride and groom were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Andrews of Los Angeles, who were recently married. Mrs. Andrews being a close friend of the bride.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper for the bridal party was served at Pettifits.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Huskins of 417 West Ivy street and the niece of Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Lane, of this city. She attended high school here and is a popular member of the younger social set.

The groom came to California a year ago from Dallas, Tex., meeting the girl of his choice soon after and beginning the romance which climaxed in marriage. He was graduated from the Dallas High School where he was captain of the football team and prominent in other athletic activities. At the present time he is connected with the Germain Seed & Plant Company of which the bride's father is the manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will spend their honeymoon at Catalina and on their return will be at home to their friends at the Bonsallo Apartments, 1927 Bonsallo avenue, where their many beautiful and useful wedding gifts will be put in service.

duced to come back to California by a very flattering offer from a Los Angeles newspaper. He owns a beautiful home in Eagle Rock but hopes to make Glendale his place of residence ere long.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Peckham and family of 615 North Central avenue, are leaving for a little trip covering the week-end and Labor Day, in the mountains, at Mistletoe Lodge and extending to Calexico and back.

Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Brown, Bettie Jane Brown and Bobby Brown, of 220 North Maryland avenue, are leaving tomorrow for Nevada, Mo., to visit the grandparents of Mrs. Brown. She and her children will be away for several months. Mr. Brown will return in a couple of weeks.

Mrs. S. A. Chase and daughter, Ethel of 1539 East Wilson avenue left Glendale yesterday for a week's stay at Long Beach.

Miss Ida Waite, who has been in San Francisco with friends and relatives during the vacation season, returned to Glendale and will live at the home of Mrs. Ella Richardson, 317 North Brand, where she will be at home to her many Glendale friends.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. McCullough of 421 North Kenwood street are spending a few days at Catalina.

The many friends of Mrs. Calvin Whiting will be interested to know that she has returned to her home, 512 North Kenwood, from Hermosa Beach, where she passed the month.

Miss Mildred Elliott of 539 East Elk avenue left on Thursday last to spend the week-end with her cousin, Mrs. Knudson, at the latter's home in Van Nuys.

Mrs. John Jackson and Ralph Eckles are expected back to Glendale this evening from Casimalia, where they have been visiting the former's son, Morris Jackson. Ralph Eckles has been away three weeks and Mrs. Jackson joined them about a week ago. It is reported that they have been enjoying their visit immensely but will be glad to return to Glendale.

Mrs. E. L. Sparr has been up from her summer home at Alhambra Bay for a few days. She is expecting to rejoin her husband and two daughters within the next few days, however.

Chaffee's School Day Suggestions

Again we think of the beginning of school and the daily preparation of school lunches. With their books in one hand and their lunch boxes in the other, the little folks go stepping along to school. It is wonderfully satisfying to them to know that Mother puts the things they like in their noonday lunches.

GLENDALÉ (LOS ANGELES POSTOFFICE), CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1921

U. S. TAKES NAVAL RISK IN DISARMING

By DAVID M. CHURCH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The United States will take a long naval chance when it enters the forthcoming disarmament conference, according to statistics of naval strength compiled by naval experts for use by the American delegation to the parley.

If the conference should agree to abandon all present building programs and to maintain the navies of the leading nations as they now stand the United States navy will lose out, for on January 1 the United States navy was but twice as large as Japan's navy. These comparisons are based on tonnage figures and might be altered by a comparison of fighting efficiency.

If the conference decides to let the present building programs continue, then the United States will win.

The present authorizations of the navies of the world would make the navy of the United States equal to that of Great Britain by 1924 and almost double the size of the Japanese navy. Japan's naval program does not begin to approach that of the United States, and even her projected but unauthorized program would not make her navy equal to that of the United States by 1927.

U. S. Has No Advantage

All of these figures, however, are based on tonnage, and the Naval Intelligence Service has compiled some interesting statistics as to the relative efficiency of the three great navies of the world which do not give the navy of the United States the advantage in fighting efficiency.

At the present time the British navy has supremacy over the American navy in every style of fighting craft, while the United States has supremacy over Japan in battleships and destroyers. By 1924, when the American building program is completed this condition will have been changed, for the American building program will have been completed, but the American navy, though equal in tonnage strength, will still be outclassed in some of the modern fighting vessels.

If the present programs go through the year 1924 will still find the United States greatly outclassed by Great Britain in light cruisers, battle cruisers, submarines and aircraft carriers. At that time Japan will also outclass the United States in light cruisers and battle cruisers.

Inasmuch as there is a great difference of opinion among naval experts as to the relative value of the battleship and the light cruisers and battle cruisers, it appears from present statistics that the United States stands to be outclassed in major naval weapons by 1924 unless the forthcoming conference decides to put a check upon the present building programs.

Will Ships Be Junked?

Japan's naval program is at the present time largely projected, and it would appear from bare statistics that the Oriental nation stands to lose more than any other nation as the result of the disarmament conference unless there is an agreement to junk some of the vessels that are already in commission.

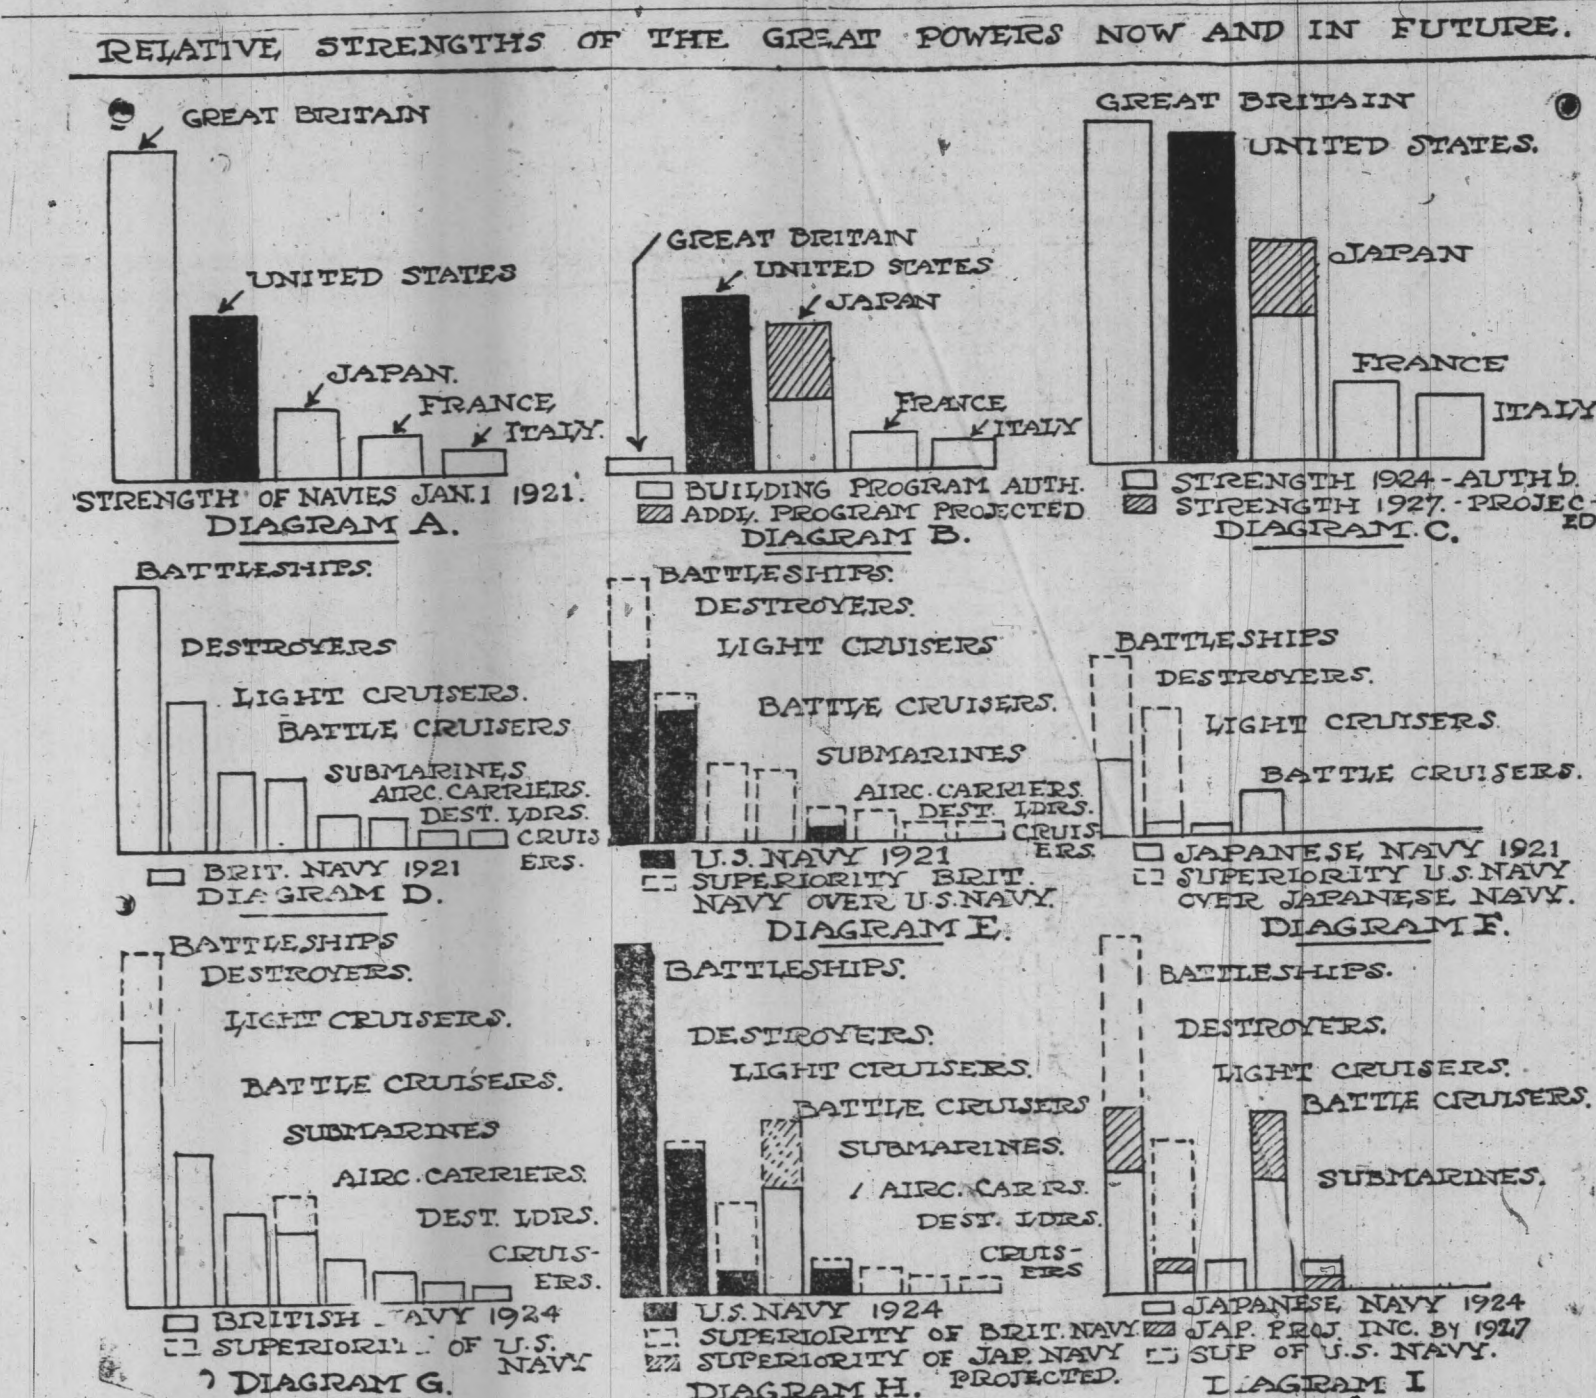

If there is to be any destruction of vessels by order of the conference, then the United States may again be the loser, for this nation has fewer vessels which it can afford to give up than Great Britain.

Naval experts are bewildered as they attempt to forecast the chances of the American navy at the hands of the disarmament conference and admit that it is going to be a game of chance all around.

MR. WINGER OPENS OFFICE

Waldo M. Winger, who, for the past year, has been connected with the Glendale Realty company, has opened an office at 112-A East Broadway and his firm will hereafter be known as the Winger Agency. He will conduct a general real estate business, buying and selling property, and will also be a general insurance broker. He will represent the Travelers' Insurance and Indemnity company of Hartford, Conn., for life, accident, health, auto, plate-glass and burglar insurance policies. He will also be a representative of the Business Men's Insurance company of Kansas City, Mo.

Mr. Winger has been in Glendale for more than a year. He has purchased a home at 407 Fairview avenue, where he lives with his family. He is one of the genuine boosters of Glendale.

POULTRY SHOW TO BE FEATURE OF SAN FERNANDO FAIR

The only National Poultry Show of the American Poultry Association thus far announced for the State of California for 1921 will be one of the big features of the San Fernando Valley fair (official Los Angeles County fair), September 19-24, inclusive.

Attracts Exhibits

The official importance of the poultry and pet stock exhibit to be held in connection with the Valley fair this year, is responsible for the fact that it is attracting exhibits from all parts of Southern California and in fact, from northern parts of the state as well.

E. I. Hammond, of Riverside, who is noted for promoting successful poultry shows, says that the coming event will undoubtedly be the largest and most important poultry show that has ever been held in the southern part of the state. Premium awards to the amount of $3000 will be paid in the poultry department alone, and the fact that besides the showing of fancy birds, there will be ample attention paid to the utility classes, is another reason why this big centrally located fair is attracting such wide attention among the poultry breeders. Over 200 pedigreed rabbits have already been entered and in the pet stock division there will be an exhibit of cats. The cat show is being sponsored by the Glendale Cat Club, and will be a special feature worth seeing. In their request that they be allowed to put on a cat show in connection with the fair, the Glendale Cat Club agreed to make an exhibit of at least 50 of the finest cats in Southern California.

Fair Grounds Scene of Activity

The fair grounds at San Fernando, are now the scenes of the utmost activity. The largest arena in the United States, 150x300 feet in dimension, has been especially constructed to house the $1000 a night horse show, and also the stock parades and stock judging. It is now ready for the beautiful decorating and lighting effects which have been arranged for it. Entries for the $1000 a night horse show have continued to pour in until now the number of famous horses that will be seen in action has passed the 220 mark. That this $1000 a night horse show will be a big society event is assured. The construc-

THOMAS A. GRAHAM, S. P. AGENT, GOES TO PACIFIC MAIL

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—Thomas A. Graham, who resigned his office as assistant freight traffic manager of the Southern Pacific Company, today became general manager of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company.

Mr. Graham began his railroad career as office boy for the North Pacific Coast Railroad in July 1878. He remained with that company until December, 1881, when he joined the Southern Pacific's San Francisco force. In his 40 years' continuous service with the Southern Pacific Company he won his way to the fore front among the leading traffic executives in the transportation industry. Mr. Graham says hard work brought him advancement.

"The opportunity is open to the man who will apply himself in the railroad field," said Mr. Graham. "The Southern Pacific has had no favored sons. It should be an inspiring thing for the young man to realize that the leading railroad executives throughout the country have come up from the ranks. And the opportunity today is bigger than it ever was before."

Mr. Graham's service dates back to the days of Huntington, Stanford, Hopkins and Crocker. From the present full train schedule and fast service, he looks back to the time when there was but one train a day between San Francisco and Los Angeles and between San Francisco and Ogden, to the time when it took nine days to haul immigrant trains (each passenger train of the arena allows for 110 private boxes below the regular seats and the private boxes open upon a six foot promenade. Inquiries for reservations of these boxes have already commenced, and indications point to their all being sold for the entire week before the opening night. The owners of famous blooded horses from Oakland, San Francisco, Santa Barbara, Beverly Hills, Los Angeles and Pasadena are all deeply interested in the event, which will be larger than any similar show ever held on the coast.

Other departments of the fair—Southern California live stock show, tractor demonstration with complete power farming exhibit, agriculture and horticulture, school exhibits, and the woman's department are all reporting splendid progress.

with his own sleeping outfit) from the Pacific Coast to the Missouri River, to the days of coal oil lamps, bell cords, hand brakes, and the picturesque old "Silver Palace Sleepers."

Born in San Francisco September 11, 1864, Mr. Graham has grown up with the West. He was not quite 14 years old when he took his first job with the North Pacific Coast Railroad, a line owned by Governor Milton S. Latham and operating between San Quentin and Duncan's Mills, Cal. This road is now a part of the Northwestern Pacific system.

Transferring to the Southern Pacific Company in December, 1881, he was clerk and later chief rate clerk in the San Francisco general passenger office until December, 1889, when he became district passenger and freight agent at Tacoma and Seattle. He was a pioneer for the company in the Puget Sound country, where he remained for ten years. On March 1, 1899, he was made district freight and passenger agent at San Jose, Cal., serving in that capacity until October 19, 1901, when he became assistant general freight agent at San Francisco.

In August, 1905, he went to Los Angeles where he assumed the position of assistant general freight and passenger agent. This he held until March 1, 1911, when he was returned to San Francisco as general freight agent. On July 15, 1912, he was made assistant freight traffic manager, retaining this position until his present change to the Pacific Mail Company.

Throughout his 43 years' railway service, Mr. Graham never lost a day's pay, nor has he been seriously ill at any time.

His associates attribute his success to a remarkable capacity for detail, combined with a broad, sound judgment on matters of policy. They say he has never been content to know everything about his own job, but has kept himself thoroughly informed on all phases of the transportation industry as well. He does not start anything until after a careful consideration, they say, but once started he is persistent and aggressive. He has a reputation for his "long-distance memory."

Mr. Graham has always been interested in the development of the communities in which he has lived and has taken a prominent part in civic and commercial organizations. He is now serving his sixth consecutive term as a director of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and for the last two years has been chairman of the executive committee of that organization. His list of personal friends and acquaintances, particularly in the western part of the country, runs into hundreds of thousands.

WOMEN OF GLENDALE ATTEND MEETING AT VAN NUYS

Representative dames of Glendale, who are interesting themselves in the securing of local exhibits for the San Fernando Valley Fair, to open September 19, attended a most interesting general committee meeting Wednesday afternoon at the Women's Club house in Van Nuys. Mrs. Ella Huston, general chairman of the woman's department, presided, and the Glendale women present were: Mrs. Ella Richardson, general chairman of the local committee; Mrs. Evelyn Labadie, Mrs. Colin Cable and Miss Eva Daniels.

These women, like the rest of humanity, are greatly interested in matters that lie outside of their everyday experience and doings, and for that reason greatly enjoyed a talk by I. H. Mallin, treasurer and auditor of the fair, about some of its special features.

Cups to Be Awarded

He told them, for instance, that 50 silver cups will be awarded for poultry exhibits, and that these will be on display in Glendale one day next week.

Tuesday Is Glendale Day

He also assured them that Tuesday, September 20, has been set aside as Glendale Day, when Glendale committees will be in charge.

Advertised by Airplane

His description of 150 polo ponies and the beautiful riding horses, including the famous "Dillon" and "Olive," interested them greatly, and the methods which will be used to advertise the fair. For example, Mr. Bassett, who will be one of the horse exhibitors, will drive from San Luis Obispo to the fair and will be paid at every town. Then there will be a ten-hour airplane flight to San Luis Obispo and Bakersfield, during which posters descriptive of the fair will be dropped.

The open-air dance which will be a feature of the fair, will be managed by the American Legion, and there will be free band concerts by an organization of 25 pieces.

A colored minstrel show will be another novelty.

It is estimated that 100,000 persons will attend during the week.

Besides this review by Mr. Mallin, a brief speech was made by Mr. Conner, secretary of the San Fernando and allied Chambers of Commerce.

REVIEW OF HAPPENINGS IN PACIFIC COAST SPORTS

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE,
Pacific Sports Service

By winning the three and one-half mile swimming championship of the United States, Ethelda Bleibtroy has shown herself to be one of the most versatile swimmers that ever donned a one piece suit. Ethelda has more medals for the short sprints than she can conveniently pin on her breast, and what with the garnering of the long distance titles, she'll have to hire someone to carry the excess badges.

Labor day week will see a lot of sport events of national interest pulled off. The Downey-Wilson battle at Jersey City is of prime importance to pugilistic fans. There will be power boat races, the Pike's Peak auto race, international golf and Grand Circuit racing among other things. California will hold both its state golf and tennis championships during that week.

Up to and including Sunday, August 28, Babe Ruth of the New York Americans had played in 119 games. While all fans are well informed as to just how many home runs he has up to date, it will be of interest to note what he has done along other lines. He has been at bat 417 times, made 139 runs and cracked out 161 base hits which gave him an average of .386. Of these hits, 35 were two baggers and 13 three baggers. One long sacrifice hit is all he has to show, while he has 13 stolen bases to his credit.

Eleven cities will provide the fans with professional football during the coming fall. These are Chicago, Decatur, Cleveland, Buffalo, Detroit, Akron, Dayton, Toledo, Canton, Rock Island and Hammond. During the last year several of these professional gridiron teams did a good business, but there also were some that failed to do any good for themselves. Whether or not professional football will be a paying proposition, still remains to be seen. It has not yet been given a sufficient tryout to prove anything.

Work on the new Stanford University stadium is progressing rapidly, and will be completed in time to hold the crowds who see the annual game against the University of California. Football authorities there are also considering the possibilities of staging an East versus West game there as an additional attraction after the regular season is over. It looks as if the annual Pasadena game might run up against some opposition this year. In view of the semi-tropical climate down there, it is a sure thing that Eastern teams would prefer to play further north.

Jack Neville, Roger D. Lapham and Dr. Paul Hunter are to compete in the national amateur golf tourney to be held next month at St. Louis. Hunter, particularly, has been playing a brilliant game this season, and his friends are anxious to have him entered. Hunter showed up well in the English championships.

Final Struggle for Davis Cup
By BILL UNMACK,
Pacific Sports Service

The present series for possession of the Davis Cup between the United States and Japan this week should prove an easy victory for Messrs. Johnston and Tilden & Company, accredited representatives of our Uncle Sam. In all the years that the competition has held sway for this trophy fifteen nations or countries have attempted to win it, but to date the honors have been divided between three countries only as ultimate victors, United States, England and Australia.

The fact that Japan is the challenging nation this week establishes a new era in the cup competition. Furthermore the preliminary rounds with a dozen competing nations was a feature never before known in Davis cup competition, and the fact that an unknown team such as India upset the calculations of the experts and defeated France was in itself something of world wide moment. India up to this year had never been seriously considered in tennis, but their victory over France made history for that country, but when they stacked up against Shimidzu and Kumagae of Japan they were unable to offset the speed and clever work of this pair of Orientals.

Incidentally while Australia sent over an untried team, as far as international competition was concerned, the playing of these young chaps, defeating first England then Denmark, only to eventually lose the final preliminary round after a strenuous struggle to Japan, predicts a big future for these men from Antipodes.

Spain was palpably weak and could make no impression on the English team and by winning against them England went into the second round. Canada likewise was comparatively weak for this international competition and suffered a severe defeat by Australia. Argentina and the Philippines both originally entered, but for reasons of not being able to make the long trip both these nations defaulted their matches.

Now the final struggle for this Davis cup is on. Japan with Kumagae, and Shimidzu are battling against Tilden and Johnston. Kumagae for several years past has been a resident of New York and is one of the best known tennis players of this country, having been ranked in the first ten players of the country for many years. Shimidzu is recognized as the present champion of Japan and it must be admitted that the duet form a formidable team.

No one, however, for a minute gives the Orientals a chance against Bill Tilden of Philadelphia and our own Bill Johnston of San Francisco. The two Americans stand out today as the greatest players of this country if not of the world. When in proper condition, playing a series of matches Johnston is just as likely to defeat Tilden as the latter is likely to defeat Johnston. As a double team their work in the 1920 Davis cup series when they regained the cup and brought it back to this country, showed the two men a combination that could not be beaten.

The American public is perfectly willing to sit back and feel perfect confidence in Tilden and Johnston in the present series against Japan. There is a confidence of safety in the very names of Tilden and Johnston, and if the Japanese players do happen to upset the dope and beat the two Bills, such a thing would be another wonder of the world. It just can't be done, and the Davis cup will probably remain in this country for a number of years to come. None of the nations which competed this year appear to have any players of a standard equal to even those players, ranking below Johnston and Tilden.

JUDGE CRAIG BUYS HOME SITE HERE

Judge Gayin Craig, associate justice of the Court of Appeals and one of the most prominent jurists in the state, has come to realize that Glendale is the residence city par excellence of Southern California.

He has just purchased a beautiful home site on Colorado boulevard, consisting of approximately five acres. He will proceed at once to beautify it with landscape gardening calculated to make it one of the show places of Los Angeles county.

The judge and Mrs. Craig, accompanied by the members of their family, will move to Glendale next week. Miss Florida will enter the junior class of Glendale High.

WEDNESDAY CLUB ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Charles Meadows entertained the Wednesday Card Club Wednesday at her pleasant home on Doran near Burchett with a luncheon followed by a brief business session and an afternoon of bridge.

Asters were used in decoration and covers were laid for twelve members of the club and four guests. High scores were made by the hostess and by Mrs. R. A. Puffer.

The members present were Madames C. G. Putnam, F. J. Rogers, Harry Powers, Jr., J. Walker, Frank George, E. E. East, Robert Pease and T. Elson of Los Angeles, G. H. Robertson, C. C. Carroll, Miss Elma Melas and the hostess. Guests were Mrs. A. M. Draper, Mrs. C. A. Parker, Mrs. E. T. Hayward and Mrs. R. A. Puffer.

Pierre Rideau's "Treachery"

By CELIA ROSE

(© 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

Helene sat in her little room in the convent, straining her ears for the sound of the owl's hoot without. She had packed her few possessions in a bag; everything was ready for her secret departure from the only home that she had known during the past eight years of her life.

Bereft of her mother at the age of twelve, her father, a wealthy manufacturer of Montreal, had placed her in the care of the nuns of St. Anne. True, twice a year he had paid her a flying visit.

So the years had rolled by happily, and then, ten months before, her father had appeared some weeks before he was due.

"Helene," he said to her, "you are a woman now and ready to take your place in society. I have arranged a wealthy marriage for you."

Then he went on to tell her that she was to marry Pierre Rideau, the only son of his great business rival, within a year. His firm had been forced into a tight position, he confessed, old Rideau held the trump cards; nevertheless, Rideau was willing to make an alliance between the two houses and thus convert enmity into friendship. So it was all arranged.

Then Helene burst into tears, begged to be allowed to spend her life in the convent that was so dear to her, and finally indignantly refused to be bartered thus. Her father went away in a fury.

That was three weeks before, and now the last week of her stay at the convent was drawing near. And meanwhile a wonderful thing had happened, so wonderful Helene could hardly convince herself that it was true. She was in love and she was loved.

It had come about in the strangest way. Helene had been gathering wintergreen in the great forests, and suddenly she had come upon a young man, bent on the same errand, in the same path. And, seeing her, he approached respectfully and asked her to direct him to the Point St. Charles, since he was lost. It turned out that he was an artist from Quebec, and was spending the late fall there, to recover his health. Helene showed him, and when she had done so he must needs walk back with her again.

So they met again and again. Helene reckless now, with her departure at hand, and he evidently falling more and more deeply in love with her. And then one day he had been unable to restrain his emotions, and falling upon his knees, pressed her hands to his lips and covered them with kisses, and begged for permission to tell her of the sentiments in his heart.

When she had timidly bidden him arise, and he, growing more bold, had taken her in his arms and kissed her, Helene, falteringly, told him her story.

"Why, that is easy," he cried. "Come with me and I will take thee on my sledge to Montreal, and there we will be married."

Then he made the proposition which thrilled her with its daring. What ties bound her? he asked. Was not their love the most precious thing in the world?

And suddenly, as she recalled this, and waited, half hoping, half dreading, she heard the call. Thence she fastened the cord to the bed, as he had told her, and, taking her little bag, she flung it down on the soft snow. A moment later, desperately daring, Helene found herself swinging out into space and down to two arms upstretched to her.

Then, lying in his arms, all the past became a blank to her.

At the bend of the road his sleigh was waiting. Her lover placed her in the sleigh and leaped beside her, and soon they were traveling merrily over the frozen ground.

The forest ended; now they traveled more swiftly. A delicious drowsiness overcame Helene.

She awoke with a start to find that they were entering the suburbs of a large city. She had not even asked where he was taking her until the sleigh stopped at the door of a mansion, brilliantly lighted, set in a large garden. Then her lover leaped from his seat and the bell pealed; the door flew open and on the threshold her father stood.

She sprang to the ground, terrified, overcome with anguish at this treachery. But, returning, her lover took her gently in his arms once more and kissed her.

"I am Pierre Rideau," he said.

Human Nature's Daily Needs.

I am indebted to the Guardian for this story, which comes via the Morning Post: "A certain bishop," says our contemporary, "whose diocese need not be named, was lately presented with a magnificent cope, the result of much labor and money of admiring friends. His lordship naturally expressed his great delight and appreciation of the gift. He is reported, however, to have remarked to a friend (needless to say, not one of those who were responsible for the gift—and very much sub rosa): 'I should ever so much rather have had a dozen new shirts!'"—Scottish Chronicle.

A Compromise.

"How did Bob Hunter come out of his dilemma in regard to those two girls?" "He decided to love the poor one and marry the rich one."

To break in a new pen-point, dip it in the ink and hold it in the flame of a lighted candle for a second and

An ad in our Classified columns to-day will bring business tomorrow.

Unwritten Rule.

Any soda clerk will tell you with disgust of the hesitation with which many customers order their drinks while he waits impatiently. That is why an uptown store has little roulette wheels at each table. Instead of numbers the hand turns to the various flavors and specialties.

"It seems to attract the young boys and girls, especially," said the manager. "They like to spin the wheel to see what to drink. It's an unwritten rule always to carry out the order to which the hand points. Luck is good to me when expensive specialties are drawn and bad, I suppose, for the fellow that pays the bill."—New York Sun.

Jazz Raises Rent.

The agent who was singing the praises of the summer cottage on the Michigan shore dwelt with particular emphasis on one near a more elaborate house. He then said that the rental was $5 a month more than the rest.

"That's because you get music," he explained.

"Music?" asked the puzzled client.

"What do you mean?"

"Well," was the answer, "the people who own that house give weekly dances during the summer. They have an orchestra on the lawn. You can hear it and give dances yourself without having to pay."

Without Light for a Week.

A London suburb was without light for a week recently owing to a strike among the employees of the electric light and power plant. The exception was made and that was the hospital, which was supplied with current sufficient for the operation of an electric incubator in which a feeble infant was being raised in artificial heat.

No comment in the wake of the women's national tennis tournament would be worthy of the writing without a tribute to little Mary Browne, the nimble Santa Monica girl who lost to Molla Mallory in the final round.

Miss Browne, like Mrs. Bundy, came from retirement to help her American sisters in the repelling of the French invader, Mile. Lenglen. Inasmuch as Mrs. Mallory attended to that little detail herself, and Miss Browne happened to be in the opposite half of the draw, the final developed into an East versus West affair and one of the greatest matches ever played by American women.

Stamina, terrific driving power and the confidence that comes to a champion won for Mrs. Mallory, but she knew she had been in a tennis match, the hardest one of her life.

Miss Browne is More Finished
Player of Two

In all-around playing Miss Browne is the more finished of the two by a wide margin. She does everything well at a tennis court. She can serve, drive, volley and place shots with uncanny ability. She wields a mighty deft racket any way you look at it. But she is a little maid, is Miss Browne, and she simply could not stand the grueling pace set by the sturdy Norse girl. It must be said of her, however, that in defeat she was a brilliant finalist and one whose playing will never be forgotten by those who saw the match. It is regrettable, therefore, that she has decided to retire from future competition in the national championship, and she will be missed. Tennis devotees hope she will think better of her decision.

PRO AND CON

"The old-time players were the goods."

Said an old-time fan with fire. "Just look at men like Kelley, Lathan, Brouters and McGuire!"

Then there was Cross, and Collins, too, and Rubie Waddell and Rowe. You can't tell me they're as good today

As they were long years ago."

"You're just all wet," said the youthful fan.

"Your dope is poppycock."

Just look at Ruth and Cobb and Spoke Mays, Maranville and Schalk!

We have our Collins and Kelly, too. Hornsby and Sisler and Pratt.

With Covey and Kerr for good measure, sir!

Now what do you think of that?"

FIFTY-THREE HAPPY YEARS

Yesterday was the fifty-third wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cornwell, who were married in Fayetteville, Ark., and who have been honored residents of Glendale for 29 years.

Because of the frail health of these two who have journeyed so long together, no exciting celebration has been arranged, but their friends and relatives will drop in at their home at 135 North Kenwood street quite informally, to tender congratulations.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys
if Back Hurts or Bladder
Bothers

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in the effort to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

CONSOLIDATION OF FEDERAL AGENCIES TAKING PLACE

The consolidation of the three federal agencies, the Public Health Service, the War Risk Insurance Bureau, and the Federal Board for Vocational Education into the Veterans' Bureau, as contemplated by the Sweet bill, is actually taking place in district No. 12 and the city of Los Angeles right now. K. J. Scudder, formerly supervisor of the Federal Board for Vocational Education at Los Angeles, has been appointed manager of the Veterans' Bureau for the city of Los Angeles; H. L. Shepp, in charge of Compensation Claims, has been appointed as Mr. Scudder's assistant and will continue to have charge of compensation; Major E. L. Wemple, formerly in charge of the Public Health Service in the city of Los Angeles, will continue in the same line of work under the direction of Mr. Scudder and Mr. A. G. Waidelich, formerly Mr. Scudder's assistant, will have charge of the work formerly comprising the activities of the federal board for vocational education.

More Efficient

Plans and procedure are now being worked out in order to bring about a more unified and more efficient functioning of the new veterans' bureau. It will be recalled that the Sweet bill, creating the veterans' bureau, was frantically owing to the divided responsibilities of the three agencies and the fact that each one of the three agencies worked independently, bringing about duplication as well as hardship upon ex-service men seeking relief.

Under the new organization the man can take up his compensation claims, hospitalization needs, and training opportunities with the same personnel at one time and in the same place.

The files formerly belonging to the war risk insurance bureau, public health, and the federal board are now being consolidated into one folder. By September 15 it is expected that the machinery and procedure provided by the Sweet bill will be in full operation.

The office of the veterans' bureau will be at the Wilcox building, where the federal board and the public health service have been hitherto. The offices and personnel handling the compensation claims will also be moved to the Wilcox building.

K. J. Scudder, manager of the bureau, speaking of the consolidation, said: "There is no question but that for a long time this thing was needed. The Sweet bill spells the end of 'passing the buck' as far as the ex-service man is concerned. We will now have an opportunity to study carefully a man's case from the three angles and provide for the man's needs without delay. It cannot be expected that the advantages accruing out of the consolidation will come to the surface immediately. It will take some time to perfect this new machinery but when once perfected it will without doubt remedy the abuses which we all knew to exist under the old law and yet were helpless to correct."

Art of Omitting.

The fine art of living worthily includes an important chapter in omitting. If we know how to omit—particularly unkindness, unfairness, untruth, we shall find ourselves unspeakably richer at the end of the year. —Robert Louis Stevenson.

Mollie Reveals Her Secret

By NATALIE F. PETERS

(© 1921, Western Newspaper Union)

It was the second evening before their marriage. All the arrangements had been completed and for a brief hour the lovers were alone together at the home of the bride-to-be.

"Are you quite reconciled to marrying the daughter of a rich man, dearest?" asked Mollie Greaves, nestling up against Walter Barrett, her fiancé. "Just think! If you hadn't been so proud, Walter, we could have been married two years by now."

"And where would my self-respect be, Mollie?" asked Walter. "I love you with all my heart, but I could hardly live as a pensioner upon my wife, could I?"

"But, dearest, surely your love for me is stronger than your pride," urged Mollie.

"Well, but now I shall have you and keep my pride too," he answered. "I always knew that some day my pictures would be snapped up. Walter, the dealer on the avenue, has been offered a thousand dollars for that seascape of mine and—"

He broke off suddenly, for there were tears in his bride's eyes.

"What is it, dearest," he pleaded.

"Have I said something to hurt you?"

"No," she sobbed. "But, Walter, I have been deceiving you these two years."

"Come, out with it," said Walter; but he was smiling no longer. "What could it be? Something dreadful, no doubt, and something by which he was to prove the sincerity of his love for her."

"Then listen, Walter, and let me finish before you say a word," said Mollie, sitting up primly and stiffly before him. "It's about your pictures."

During the last year you have been getting better and better prices for them from Mr. Enoch, haven't you?"

"Well, I should say I have."

"Then listen, Walter," said Mollie quickly. "That is all a trick of mine and father's. When you asked me to wait until you had made a name for yourself father thought you foolish. He had money enough for both of us, he said, and nothing would have pleased him better than that you should continue painting all your life and let the future take care of itself. But when you refused—well, you know that 'Moonlight Over Brooklyn Bridge' of yours?"

"Well, I should guess so. Enoch gave me $250 for that and it was my first success."

"Enoch didn't buy it," sobbed Mollie. "At least, didn't buy it on chance, as you suppose. Father went to him and told him he would pay $250 for that when you took it to Enoch and $50 extra for each picture you painted until you reached a thousand dollars. And those customers of Enoch's who you thought bought all your pictures—they were just father and me, Walter. And every picture that he has bought he has given away. And now I know that things are back just where they were two years ago, and I oughtn't to have told you, but I couldn't marry you with a lie in my heart, Walter. So kiss me once and then I will leave you and not see you again until—why, Walter!"

He was bending over her and laughing, and the kiss that he gave her did not seem in the least like a farewell kiss, but rather a harbinger of many kisses to come.

"Walter! You aren't going to leave me? You are going to forgive me?" Mollie whispered incredulously.

Walter sat down in his chair again and drew her on his knees and kissed the last of the tears away.

"Now you listen to me, Mollie, and don't you interrupt me until I am through," he began. "Of course I had known of that little trick I should have been extremely angry. But it has helped me in more ways than you imagine. In the first place, this giving away of my paintings to hospitals and schools has advertised me and created a demand for my work."

"Yes," breathed Mollie.

"And only last Friday I was in at Wallis' and he said to me: 'I wish you wouldn't give all your work to Enoch, Mr. Barrett. Why don't you let me have some of it?' So I told him that I had made a year's contract with Enoch to give him so many pictures, and that I couldn't break it. And what do you think? Well, if I hadn't entered into that arrangement I should have been able to dispose of my work at just about twice as much again, and if my pictures hadn't been dispersed throughout the city I could have collected exhibit this winter as Wallis wants. So that you and my respected father-in-law to be have deprived me of just about half a year's income."

"Walter!"

"Five thousand dollars, and I'm going to get it back from you."

"How?" asked Mollie, smiling.

"One dollar apiece," answered Walter. "Drive thousand kisses at compound interest, doubling themselves in five and twenty years."

FIND RELIC OF OLD LONDON

Arch of Bridge Which Must Have Been Built Centuries Ago Just Brought to Life.

A very interesting relic of old London has come to light, according to the London Times, an arch of old London bridge, which was demolished during the construction of the new London bridge, which began in 1825. The arch now discovered is the second from the north side of the old bridge, and is close to St. Magnus' church. It was disclosed during some building operations now in progress.

The first stone bridge over the Thames was built in 1176, but the bridge was constantly repaired and restored, so that there is no evidence of the exact date of this particular arch. It was apparently medieval, and is built of Reigate stone with a very flat trajectory. At the beginning of the eighteenth century, however, three flat wrought-iron supporting ribs were put in, and the middle one of these is dated 1703. The arch is not yet entirely uncovered, but a springer at each side is just being disclosed, and the span is estimated to be about 30 feet. The under surface of the arch is considerably waterworn between the added ribs. It is one of the arches close to which the mill wheel stood for the raising of water into the water tower that stood alongside the bridge. This arch stood in the river, and is, therefore, an evidence of the limits which, as time has gone on, have been imposed on the Thames, the river being now much narrower than it was in medieval times. It is understood that this relic of old London is to be carefully preserved.

CROWDING THE SEA SERPENT

Old Friend of the Ocean Summer Resorts Makes Way for Pirate Ship From Russia.

We believe but one sea serpent has been sighted so far this season. Perhaps it is still a little early, but the weather has been hot enough to bring our old friend to the surface, and no doubt the frightened and delighted visitors at shore resorts and those who go out to sea in boats for a short distance will soon be rewarded with a sight of his ugly head or fascinated by the swishing of his angry tail. However, it is possible, that the sight more calculated to thrill will be the pirate ship from Russia that is moving in such a mysterious way its wonders to perform. If this is so, we are certain that for every view of the sea serpent that is recorded on the part of credible witnesses there will be 20 equally credible witnesses who caught a glimpse of the new terror of the deep, long, low and dark, either just before it submerged or at the moment it came to the surface to cast its eye about for a new ship to capture and sink or to drag away the crew in irons to Bolshevik Russia. To the elderly skeptic who inquired where such a craft secured its necessary fuel, the less critical young woman answered that it probably operated by electricity. What could be more probable?—Hartford Courant.

Flower Worth Small Fortune.

Ten thousand dollars is an extraordinary price for a single plant, yet it was paid by English horticulturists for an orchid raised in America, the Cattleya gigas alba. This Cattleya was flowered in 1910, and exhibited at an orchid show in the United States, where it was awarded a gold medal. The plant was found in 1809 in a lot of other specimens of Cattleya gigas. It was only by chance that the plant was not sold for a dollar or two. The only reason was that after most of its companions had been disposed of this one, with some others that were not in very good condition, was set aside. Finally all the specimens were potted.

To the great surprise of the horticulturists when, next spring, the plant came up it was with pure white flowers. The plant was sold in London for perhaps the highest figure that an orchid ever brought.

Apology Needs an Apology.

"Gentlemen!" It came from the lips of an attorney pleading a case recently before the Supreme court of the state of Idaho. In front of him sat the judges clothed with their judicial dignity, listening intently to the case. The attorney had erred. Judges should be addressed as "Your honors."

"Gentlemen!" repeated the lawyer, and the faintest hint of a smile flitted across the features of the men in front of him.

Suddenly he stopped, realizing his blunder.

"I apologize for calling you 'gentlemen,'" he blurted out. "Laughter in a courtroom is not deemed exactly proper, but a joke is a joke and Chief Justice Rice replied simply, 'I hope you made no mistake.'" —Idaho Statesman.

British Museum Overcrowded.

The British museum, says a London writer in the New York Post, has reached the end of its rope, so far as space is concerned. By the law of 1830 every English author, whether domiciled at home or in the dominions, is obliged to place two copies of his books with the museum, which in turn guarantees to keep them in good condition and make them accessible to the reading public. The same applies to newspapers. Space for the latter was exhausted some time ago and a special barracks was built to store them. It is now feared that the same plan will have to be adopted for the books.

One for Each Window.

The worst thing about the profuse windowed sleeping room, observes the Kansas City Star, is that you have to get up so many times before you finally locate the window which is doing the rattling.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

BEARSKIN A MARK OF HONOR

Five British Regiments Won Right to Wear Headress, at the Battle of Waterloo.

Recently published portraits of the king of England at the historic British ceremony, "trooping of the colors," at the Horse guards parade in London show him wearing the high, shaggy bearskin headress which appears to the uninitiated to be a heavy, uncomfortable article of apparel. As a matter of fact it is not as uncomfortable as it looks.

The bearskin, as it is called to distinguish it from the shako and busby, is made of the skin of the Russian bear and stretched over a basketlike framework. In reality it is not any heavier than the oldtime helmet. The one the king wore on this occasion had a white plume on the side, the insignia of the Grenadier guards, of which regiment King George is honorary colonel. Five British Guard regiments are entitled to wear the bearskin, a distinction they won at Waterloo when the British guards defeated the Old Guard of Napoleon, who wore this towering form of headdress.

Besides the Grenadier guards a regiment dating from the time of Charles II, the Coldstream, Scots, Irish and Welsh guards, the latter formed during the World war, wear bearskins. They form the brigade of Foot guards in peace time and are part of the household troops, whose duties include the guarding of Buckingham and St. James palaces.

NEW FRENCH LINER ARTISTIC

The Paris, Recently Launched, Has Eleven Decks and Is Like an Art Museum.

A writer in a recent number of Le Petit Parisien devotes nearly a column of most poetic prose to the new steamship Paris of the French Transatlantic company, launched recently at Le Havre for the New York run. The Paris is a little more than seven hundred and sixty-eight feet in length (not quite as long as the Mauretania), has 11 decks, 64 lifeboats and three stacks. Her weight is 35,000 tons.

While not palatial, the new liner is described as a work of art. She carries a crew of 664 and about 3,000 passengers. Among the features of her equipment are mentioned a terraced cafe and an elaborate children's playroom. The vessel is an oil burner, and all the cooking and heating is done by electricity.

The French writer, above mentioned, observes that the Paris would do very nicely as a museum and is a "permanent, lasting salon of modern French art." In the grand drawing room, lined with mauve woodwork, the Painter Lalique has employed a design of butterflies representing the hours, while a symbolical canvas from the brush of Albert Besnard pays homage to France and America.

Citrus By-Products

In co-operation with the citrus fruit growers of California, the United States bureau of chemistry has been trying for some years past to develop methods whereby profitable uses might be found for the enormous quantities of oranges and lemons which now go to waste because unfit for shipment. It does not pay to ship to market any fruit that is not first class and in prime condition. Of waste oranges, called "culs," there are 14,000 tons a year. What shall be done with them? A partial answer to the question is furnished by a score of factories which have already been put in operation for the production of marmalade and jellies. Also, a profitable market has been found for orange oil and lemon oil, orange vinegar, citric acid and dried orange peel. Fresh orange acid is used for the marmalade, while the oil is extracted by pressure from the skins. Up to the present time all of our orange oil and lemon has come from Italy and Sicily.

Kipling's "Brevities"

It is quite true, as Mrs. Gerould says, that Mr. Kipling's fame rests upon "significant brevities," but what she and critics of a similar complexion cannot see is that these "brevities" are "significant" in a sense diametrically opposed to her interpretation of the word. She means, of course, to be complimentary, to intimate that Mr. Kipling is brief for choice; whereas the exact reverse is the truth, and, far from being brief for choice, Mr. Kipling is brief from necessity. Mrs. Gerould would intimate that Mr. Kipling prefers the short story, whereas, in point of fact, Mr. Kipling's gifts restrict him to the short story.—F. A. Waterhouse, in the Yale Review.

Pioneer Log Building Restored.

An old log building, near Chehalis, Wash., which housed one of the first federal courts ever held in the Pacific northwest, has been rehabilitated and presented to the state. The building, erected in 1845, housed Gen. Phil Sheridan and Gen. George B. McClellan when they were in the northwest before the Civil war and had to travel between Fort Vancouver, on the Columbia river, and Fort Steilacoon, on Puget sound.

Prize Stock for Canada.

The prince of Wales won most of the prizes with his exhibits of Short-horn cattle and Shropshire sheep at the agricultural show, held recently in England. He declared his intention of shipping some of these farm aristocrats to his ranch in Alberta, Canada, where there is already a fine blooded aggregation.

Earning and Spending.

Earning money keeps some men from their wives. Spending money drives some women farther away from their husbands. The proper way is for husband and wife to earn together and spend together.

HAS SEEN LIFE'S BITTERNESS

Granddaughter of the Mighty Napoleon I Worthy of Remembrance by the French People.

Paris observed the centenary of Napoleon Bonaparte's death with elaborate ceremonies a few weeks ago. Amid all the pomp in honor of the one-time arbiter of Europe another figure stood out in contrast—that of a woman of fifty, dressed in black, with a fine, open face, lined by sorrow and the incessant effort to eke out a livelihood, a teacher in an ordinary elementary school near the Boulevard St. Michel. This poor teacher, now living in a tiny apartment with her cat and a few meager possessions, is the granddaughter of Napoleon I. Her father was the illegitimate son of Napoleon and Eleonore de la Plaigne, a maid of honor to Caroline Murat. Napoleon gave the boy the title of Count Leon. Born in 1806, "Count Leon" died in 1881, after an exciting and feverish life, into which he crowded excessive gambling, many duels and love affairs and some mystical meditations. The count's only daughter, Charlotte Leon, was born when her father was sixty years old. She began life as a teacher in Algeria to support her widowed mother, to whom the count had left but small means of subsistence. After hard years of struggle on a pittance she finally went to Paris, where she married a M. Mesnard, taking the name of Mme. Mesnard-Leon. Her husband is now dead and she lives alone, barely removed from want, meditating on the strange destiny of her grandfather, the strange emperor, of her father's wild and stormy life—and of her only son, who died for France at Rheims during the war.

ALCOHOL FROM THE JUNGLE?

May Yet Be Economically Manufactured From Moist Vegetation of Tropical Forests.

We clutch at anything as a substitute for gasoline. Professor Whitford of the Yale school of forestry says that alcohol could be economically manufactured from the moist vegetation of tropical forests and jungles. "The evidence is conclusive," said Professor Whitford, "that the tropical sun has the power to store up more energy in the form of cellulose in a given time than has the temperate sun. If this is in a utilizable form it remains for the ingenuity of man to overcome the difficulties of profitably applying it. With the increasing needs of the nation it is reasonable to expect that sooner or later it will be necessary to utilize more fully the plant resources of the tropics." Professor Whitford said that the annual production of alcohol from the nipa plant in the Philippines was now nearly 3,000,000 gallons and that one distillery there had produced 33 per cent alcohol at a cost of about 20 cents a gallon, and if operated to full capacity could make it at a cost of 15 cents a gallon.—Scientific American.

Reversing Speech.

A curious phonographic instrument was invented by Poulsen, capable of reversing the sounds of a word or a sentence. A steel piano wire, carried on two spools, passes between the poles of a small electromagnet so connected with a telephone transmitter that spoken words are magnetically recorded on the moving wire and reproduced in a receiving instrument. When the motion of the wire is direct, the words are heard as in ordinary conversation, but if the motion is reversed, the sounds come to the ear in reverse order, like words spelled backward. To represent the order in which the reversed sounds strike the ear, however, not only must the order of the letters composing a word be reversed but each letter must itself be reversed from right to left, as when reflected in a mirror.—Christian Science Monitor.

Remarkable Calculation.

Charles L. Dodgson, professor of higher mathematics at Christ Church, Oxford, known to most people as "Lewis Carroll," and the author of "Alice in Wonderland," is responsible for the following peculiar calculation: Write down the number of your brothers that are living. Multiply this by two. Add three. Multiply the result by five. To this add the number of your living sisters. Multiply the result by ten. Add to this result the number of your dead brothers and sisters. From the total subtract 150. The right hand figure gives the number of deaths, the middle figure gives the number of living sisters, and the left-hand figure gives the number of living brothers.

Lodgings or Lollypops.

Referring to our note on the disappearance of cottage pudding because of the shortage of cottages, a correspondent asks if the high cost of lumber isn't really due to the vast quantities of it now being used in making lollypop handles. Probably, sir, probably. So that while we use our lumber in making cheap sweets we cannot expect to have cheap suites.—Boston Transcript.

German Blind Soldiers Increase.

There are 3,322 blind soldiers in Germany from the World war and one hundred have died. The discouraging feature of it all is that there were only 1,954 war blind when the armistice was signed. In addition to the totally blind, there are at present 4,129 who have "bad eyes" as the result of war service.—New York Evening Post.

Tulsa Culture.

We hear much of the vulgarity of the newly rich, but there's none of that in Tulsa. A Tulsa matron informs that all new furniture will have to be bought to go with "the new infant grand piano."—Kansas City Star.

BIRTHDAY DINNER AT DR. DUNCAN'S

Dr. A. M. Duncan and family are today entertaining with a mid-day dinner in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Henry W. Meyers of 1203 South Central avenue who today completes her eighty-fourth year. It will also celebrate the natal day of H. W. Duncan of Los Angeles, which fell on August 29.

For Mrs. Meyers a white angel food cake beging pink candles, and for her fellow celebrant a devil's food cake on which yellow candles have been provided. Pink and yellow dahlias will be blended in the floral decorations of the board.

Covers are to be laid for Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Meyers, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Duncan, Dr. A. M. Duncan, Misses J. and Harriet Meyers, Mrs. John P. Cate and Miss Carol Duncan.

COLLISION AT ADAMS AND BROADWAY

H. M. Griggs, living at 1113 East Wilson avenue, Glendale, reported to the police department last night that his car was struck at the intersection of Broadway and Adams street by an automobile bearing the number 74-845. According to the report turned in by Mr. Griggs he was driving east on Broadway and when he started to turn into Adams street the other car, driving at a high rate of speed, was about 300 feet from him and overtook his car before the turn was completed. It is also alleged that the driver of the other car did not have an automobile operator's license.

Press Ads Get The Business

One Born Every Fourth Minute

A LADY with a family of three children didn't want any more because she had heard that every fourth child born in the world was a Chinaman.

As ludicrous, perhaps, as an old misconception some skeptical folks used to have about advertising.

There was a time when some advertisements had to be taken with a grain of salt. A few misguided advertisers thought they could sell their goods better by misrepresenting them. Those advertisers have long since gone out of business or mended their ways. Hard experience taught that untruthful advertising didn't pay.

Other advertisers proved that the only way to advertise successfully, make regular customers, and build up good will was to TELL THE ABSOLUTE TRUTH about their goods in their advertisements. You can depend on the merchant or manufacturer who advertises. The concern that tells you frankly what it is doing is a good concern with which to do business. The store that advertises is a progressive store that has something really worth while to say to you. And companies that advertise their products or their service have confidence in them. You can safely share their confidence.
